POWERS EAGER FOR U.S. TO JOIN IN HAGUE TALK ON RUSSIA

Success of Meeting, Set for June 15, Believed to Depend on America's Taking Part—Invitation to Washington Formally Approved by Subcommittee.

ADJOURNMENT SOON AT GENOA LIKELY

Two Commissions, One With Russians Attending, Would Meet at Hague During Truce—Russians Decide to Attend.

GENOA, May 15.—What the Genoa conference has failed to do—solve the Russian question—it is hoped to accomplish at another meeting if the United States will participate. A formal invitation to the new conference to be held at The Hague was handed to the American Ambassador, Richard Washburn Child, last night, and today all eyes are on Washington, for upon the question of American participation the chance for an agreement with the Russians is believed to depend.

The Russians will accept the invitation to go to The Hague for continuation of discussions of the Russian question, it was announced this evening by M. Rakovsky, the Soviet premier of the Ukraine. He expressed belief, however, that the Hague conference, like that at Genoa, would prove sterile unless the Russian idea for one mixed commission was accepted.

The political subcommittee of the conference today unanimously approved the agreement reached yesterday among the convening Powers to hold the meeting at The Hague.

Two Commissions Meet.
The plan provides for the creation of two commissions to assemble at The Hague to consider Russian financial problems.

The plan, as approved, also provides that an invitation to participate be extended to the United States.

All the Powers now represented here will be asked to send delegates to The Hague meeting, the date for which is tentatively set at June 15. Other details for the gathering are unsettled, but, at the suggestion of Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain, a nonaggression truce for four months, or until the new conference ends its labors, was approved informally at the conference.

Adjournment This Week Likely.
Inasmuch as the Russian question was the main topic up for settlement at Genoa, the failure of the present negotiations will bring the conference to a quick end, and adjournment probably will be taken before the end of the present week.

The Hague conference would consist of two commissions of experts, one for the Russians and the other for the remaining Powers, participating at Genoa, but it is extremely doubtful whether the Russians will consent to the plan as it now stands. Prime Minister Lloyd George announced this afternoon that he had handed to Richard Washburn Child, the American Ambassador, last evening, a copy of the proposal for the commission to sit at The Hague to discuss Russian affairs. He said this has been done so that the United States would be fully advised in case Russia accepts.

Lloyd George expressed the hope that the United States would see fit to join the mixed commission.

While the British delegation has intimated that the two commissions would co-operate and be on an equal footing, the French and the other delegations supporting their view give the impression that the Russian panel would not attend all the sessions of the full conference. For this reason the Russians are said to look upon the project as an attempt to place them in a position of inferiority, and the subcommittee at its meeting today will attempt to overcome this decision.

Telichevich and his associates have constantly insisted that Russia cannot tolerate that her affairs be discussed by any commission in which she is not represented on a basis of equality with other nations. In other words they say they will

13 DIE AND 70 ARE HURT WHEN CAR PLUNGES INTO CANYON

Pleasure Seekers Are Carried Into Gorge Following Collision of Street Cars on Hill Near Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, May 15.—Thirteen persons were killed and more than 70 injured yesterday when a tram car carrying a holiday crowd was catapulted into a deep canyon near Santa Fe, a small village adjacent to the capital after colliding with another car at the top of a hill. Most of the victims were women and children.

The car, filled with pleasure seekers on their way to Desierto de Los Leones, a popular resort near the capital, crashed head on into a city bound car. The collision did little damage, but the car sped backward down the incline, the brakes failing to hold. It left the rails at a sharp curve, and was hurled into the gully.

There were no Americans in the party, but several Germans and other foreigners were on board. The death list probably will be augmented, as many of the injured are in a serious condition.

DETROIT NOW OWNER AND IN CONTROL OF ALL ITS STREET CAR LINES

City With 363 Miles of Tracks Has Largest Municipal System in World.

DETROIT, Mich., May 15.—At midnight the city of Detroit formally took possession of all trolley lines and city cars within the city limits, becoming owner of the largest municipally owned street railway system in the world.

The Detroit United Railway continues the operation of interurban cars.

The city takes over 273 miles of track, and 1029 cars, which, added to lines built by the city and cars already owned, gives the city a system of 363 miles of track and 1457 cars.

CABINET TO TAKE UP POWERS' INVITATION

Some Action Regarding Hague Meeting May Follow Session Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A communication from American Ambassador Child, reporting that the United States Government had been invited to participate in the newly planned economic conference at The Hague, was received today at the State Department, but officials indicated that no immediate decision regarding it would be reached.

Until they had an opportunity to study the proposal in detail, officials would make no comment regarding it. The general impression given by them was that the question probably would be discussed at tomorrow's Cabinet meeting and that some action might follow.

At the State Department particular pains were taken to emphasize that the invitation was a complete surprise here, officials declaring that the Washington Government not only had not suggested it, but was completely uninformed regarding the plan until today.

The communication from Ambassador Child was said to be the only advance summary of the official text of the invitation. It was understood that various details regarding the circumstances which led up to the move still were to come, and that the department would take no steps until it was fully advised.

In their references to The Hague conference, officials would not indicate in what degree they considered the case analogous to the Genoa negotiations, into which the United States refused to enter. It was assumed that President Harding and his advisers would adopt a similar policy of nonparticipation should the new conference appear to be merely a reproduction of that at Genoa. On the other hand, information received here in press dispatches has indicated that a stipulation expressly excluding the United States from any of the effects of decisions reached at The Hague might be included in the invitation in such a way as to change the basis of the whole problem.

Throughout the Genoa conference the American Government has emphasized through Ambassador Child that the United States would not be bound by the decisions reached there.

MESSENGER KILLS ROBBER, PREVENTS TRAIN HOLDUP

Express Car Worker on Rock Island Limited Routes Seven Men at Isolated Spot in Arizona.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 15.—With two well-directed bullets express messenger H. Stewart early today frustrated a spectacular attempt by eight masked men to rob Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train No. 3, the Golden State Limited, bound from Chicago to Los Angeles. Stewart killed one of the robbers, apparently wounded a second and routed the band single-handed.

He was not molested in the holdup, which was at 1:10 a. m. in an isolated spot near Gaynes, a flag station eight miles west of Tucson.

Train Stopped at Signal.
The slain robber was recognized by Sheriff Daniels of Pinal County as that of a Tucson poolroom habitué. The man wore rubber gloves.

Beside the body was found a sack of dynamite with which the robbers evidently intended to blow strong boxes in the mail and baggage cars. A red fuse, a railroad stop signal, was used to halt the limited. Three masked men boarded the engine and a fourth stood guard over the passenger coaches. With revolvers leveled they forced a tramp to step covered riding the "blind baggage" to assist them in uncoupling the mail and express cars. The engineer, obeying orders of the armed trio, rolled the cars about a dozen car lengths to a point where four other masked men were waiting in an automobile.

Robber Slain by Messenger.
When Conductor Madigan looked out of the vestibule of a passenger coach to see what had occurred, a member of the robber gang opened fire. Meanwhile, Stewart, the express messenger, had thrown open the door of the baggage car. When Stewart saw that Madigan was in danger, he killed with one shot the robber who had fired at the conductor. Stewart then wheeled and sent another bullet at four robbers who were advancing on the baggage and mail cars.

One, apparently hit, staggered and shouted to his comrades. Then all seven turned and scurried to two automobiles and sped west.

DOGS ON STREETS WITHOUT MUZZLES TO BE IMPOUNDED

Order Issued After Fatalities Caused by Rabid Animal at Kenwood Springs, in County.

JACK DOUGHERTY, 9, SECOND VICTIM, DIES

Leroy Kohlhauff Buried Saturday—Girl, 4, Scratched, Receives Pasteur Treatment as Precaution.

An order for the immediate muzzling of all dogs running on the streets of St. Louis was issued today, following the death of the second of two boys bitten by a rabid dog at Kenwood Springs, St. Louis County.

The order was issued by George E. Diekmann, head of the Humane Society, which the city Municipal Board has delegated authority to conduct the dog pound. Under the order, the dogcatchers are to impound all dogs which are on the highways without muzzles. Dogs placed in the pound under this order, can be recovered only after the payment of a $2 penalty, a 75-cent pound fee and an additional $2 for a license if the dog is unlicensed.

Second Boy Dies.
There is a standing order of the Health Department for muzzling of dogs which run on the streets, but it has been customary to enforce this rule only in the midsummer months, because of the fatalities at Kenwood Springs, which was decided to place the order in effect immediately.

Jack Dougherty, 9 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Dougherty of 3708 Manly, avenue, Kenwood, died yesterday afternoon from the effects of a dog's bite April 22. His funeral will be held Wednesday.

Leroy Earl Kohlhauff of 3734 Avondale avenue, who was bitten by the same dog two days later, died last Thursday, and his funeral was held Saturday, which would have been his fifth birthday. The cause of death in both cases was hydrophobia.

Third Child Treated.

A third child, Florence Burton, 4, who was knocked down and scratched by the dog at the time when Jack Dougherty was bitten, has received the Pasteur treatment as a precaution, and no serious symptom has developed in her case.

The dog, a large shepherd, had been sheltered by Miss A. L. Dwyer of 3703 Manly avenue for two years, having come into the neighborhood as a stray. On the afternoon of April 22, while Jack and Leroy Dougherty and Florence Burton were playing on the sidewalk, the dog ran out from the Dwyer place and knocked the two girls down, then bit Jack on the chin. The dog was penned up in the Dwyer yard, but escaped, and returned two days later, when he attacked Leroy Kohlhauff and bit him on the face and the temple.

Examination Shows Rabies.
The dog ran away, and on its next return was chained up, and soon showed that it was rabid. An examination of its head showed that it had been bitten. Other dogs which were believed to have been bitten by this dog were killed or chained up, and all dogs in the neighborhood were ordered chained for 60 days.

What Do in Case of Bites.
The two boys were under the Pasteur treatment, beginning April 28, and Jack had completed the course of treatment before his death.

Health Commissioner Starkloff and Hospital Commissioner Jordan today explained the procedure that should be followed when a person is bitten by a dog. Ordinary medical treatment should be given for the wound, and every effort made to catch the dog, but the animal should not be killed. It should be taken to the city pound, where quarters for observation are provided. If the dog is rabid, it will die in four or five days. If it has shown no sign of rabies after 11 days, it is not suffering from it and will be free. If the dog dies, its brain is examined by city experts, who determine definitely if the animal had rabies.

If the dog had rabies, the person bitten should be given the Pasteur treatment immediately, and this will save life in the great majority of cases. The treatment consists of painless hypodermic injections daily for about two weeks. Human beings are not very susceptible to hydrophobia, they said, and this makes treatment easier. A dog which has been bitten by a rabid dog can be given the Pasteur treatment.

Dr. Jordan and Dr. Starkloff both Continued on Page 2, Column 7.

TAX ON "PUTS AND CALLS" IS UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

Tribunal Rules That Levy on Certain Forbidden Future Trading Is Unenforceable.

INVESTIGATION OF DEALS SUSTAINED

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Supreme Court today held Section four of the future trading act was unenforceable. It held that Sections three and nine and other sections could be enforced.

The law recently was enacted by Congress. Among its other provisions it extended to farmers' co-operative associations, privileges intended to promote their marketing facilities, including membership upon grain exchanges, which became "contract" markets. It imposed a prohibitive tax upon contracts for future delivery of grain, when not made upon "contract" markets.

Eight members of the Chicago Board of Trade sought an injunction in the United States District Court at Chicago to prohibit the board from complying with its provisions, but Judge Landis decided against them. Then they appealed to the Supreme Court, which suspended the operation of the law so far as the Chicago Board of Trade was concerned, pending determination of validity of the law.

Section nine of the law, which was sustained by the Court, empowers the Secretary of Agriculture to investigate the board of trade, require it to submit statements of other information, except confidential trade matter, and to publish reports to the public.

The Court announced that the injunction against the Chicago Board of Trade and its officers, and the injunction against the Collector of Internal Revenue and the District Attorney, should be granted, so far as Section 4 is concerned, and the regulations of the act interwoven within it.

Justice Brandeis Disagrees.
The decree of the lower District Court was reversed to the extent that it announced his dissent. Justice Brandeis stated briefly that he could not agree with the opinion of the Court, which, in substance, held the law invalid.

Section 4, declared to be unenforceable, proposed to levy a virtually prohibitive tax of 20 cents per bushel on all future trading banned under the act. It made exceptions of actual crops of grain or legitimate hedging contracts.

Section 3 of the act provided for a tax of 20 cents a bushel upon "privileges," "puts and calls," "spreads and offsets" and other so-called speculative trades.

WASHINGTON BEGINS VOLUNTARY DAYLIGHT SAVING EXPERIMENT

Some Executive Branches of Government Begin Work an Hour Earlier—Clocks Unchanged.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Washington today began an experiment in voluntary daylight saving. The hands of the clock remained unchanged, but, under a request issued by President Harding, with approval of his Cabinet, a large proportion of the activities of the executive branch of the Government got under way an hour earlier and most of the commercial establishments of the city opened their doors and called their employees to work an hour ahead of the regular schedule.

Congress, on the other hand, has refused to have anything to do with the new plan and will meet and adjourn as usual. The Supreme Court history began, and also will decline to follow the executive department.

BORAH PROPOSES THAT THE SENATE DECLARE FOR RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The Senate would declare for the recognition of the Soviet government of Russia under a resolution introduced today by Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho. The resolution was ordered to lie on the table.

The resolution is as follows: "Resolved, That the Senate of the United States favors recognition of the present Soviet government of Russia."

POCKETLESS SUITS FOR RUSSIAN CHURCH TREASURE SORTERS

Pearls and Diamonds by the Peck Among Valuables Taken to Aid Famine Sufferers.

MOSCOW, May 15.—Silver by the ton, gold by the hundredweight, pearls by the bushel and diamonds by the peck, dumped into wooden boxes, jute sacks, pasteboard cartons or merely wrapped in parcels, all this treasure hoard awaits opening and sorting at the storehouse for valuables confiscated by the Soviet Government from Russian churches and synagogues to benefit famine sufferers.

The Associated Press correspondent was permitted to visit the five-story loft building which constitutes the storehouse, by consent of M. I. Kalenin, peasant president and head of all famine relief organizations.

One floor is already nearly filled with the articles confiscated in Moscow alone, these amounting to more than 90,000 pounds of silver, several hundred pounds of gold and over 10,000 precious stones, mostly diamonds. Requisitioned articles from provincial churches are to be stored on the other four floors.

Each of the 624 packages in this big room is sealed, and stacked in tiers. The yield from some of the monasteries was too large for a single package, overflowing into smaller boxes stacked beside them.

A rough list of articles confiscated accompanies each box as it is brought under heavy guard to the storehouse, but the exact value only will be known when appraisers open the parcels and sort their contents.

These experts, and workmen who will unpack the boxes, are to be provided with pocketless suits when the task of sorting begins.

Motor trucks fairly bristling with bayonets of the soldier escorts drive up to the treasure house day and night with boxes from the churches. From the outer gates to the roof, the building swarms with guards.

RED CROSS THROUGH IN EUROPE

Eight Years of American Work Will Be Formally Ended in June.

PARIS, May 15.—The American Red Cross, after eight years of work, during which it expended more than $400,000,000, will close its main activities in Europe at the end of June. This announcement was made today by Dr. Ross Hill, director of foreign operations, who has just returned from a two-month survey of Europe, extending from Warsaw to Constantinople.

Dr. Hill said he believed there no longer was any need for American relief effort in the war-affected countries. The welfare of the peoples of Europe was better than at any time since the war, due largely to American aid, he said.

Freemont (Mo.) Bank Held Up; Robbers Get $2000.
By the Associated Press.
FREMONT, Mo., May 15.—The Freemont State Bank today was held up by two men, who escaped on foot with approximately $2000. Possesmen, headed by Sheriff J. E. Oliver, pursued yesterday. J. L. Fogel, cashier, was the only person in the bank when the men entered and was ordered to hold up his hands and point out where the money was. He stated both men had whiskers, which he believed were false.

Other Cases Dismissed.
Before rendering its decision on the Drexel Furniture Co. case, the Court dismissed the Atherton Mills case, also from North Carolina, and announced it would dismiss a similar case brought by the Government against John George and others of North Carolina.

The Government, in the Atherton Mills case, brought originally to test the constitutionality of the child labor law, sought to restrain the mill from discharging John W. Johnson, a minor, whose continued employment would have imposed a fine on the mill. The penalty upon the net annual profits of the mills. While the case was pending in the courts, the minor reached an age when the law would no longer apply to him and it therefore became moot.

In the case brought by the Government against John George and others, the mill owners failed to perfect their case by paying the Federal tax under protest and then proceeding to recover it. The tax had not been paid, the Court found, although the law provides that the Court can enjoin the Government from collecting taxes which it claims are due. These conditions required, the Court stated, that further proceedings should be suspended.

SUPREME COURT HOLDS THE CHILD LABOR LAW IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

State. Unless the Supreme Court adopted that doctrine, and, as one of the three co-ordinate branches of the Government, refused to investigate the "impulse" of Congress in enacting excise tax legislation, the nation,
he insisted, would be confronted
with "a serious dilemma."

Government's Argument.
The Court should hold that such a tax imposed by Congress cannot be nullified by attributing to Congress an ulterior motive, the Solicitor-General insisted, declaring that otherwise "an intolerable burden may be put upon the Court," and require it in the future to determine the purpose which Congress may have had in the enactment of any tax law which may be challenged. The Solicitor-General frankly stated that should the Court refuse to question the "motives" of Congress, then it would be possible for "the powers of the Federal Government to be utilized to secure objectives which are beyond the scope of Federal power."

Opponents of the child labor law contended that the Court should take judicial notice of what was characterized as the constant encroachment of Congress upon the strictly local affairs of the states, and consider the motive behind each Federal law, regardless of whether it imposed an excise tax. They pointed out that when the Supreme Court held unconstitutional the former child labor act, in which the penalty was the exclusion of child labor products from interstate commerce, Congress promptly re-enacted it in the form of the present law by merely substituting an excise tax as the penalty. It was insisted that the Court never intended that such regulatory measures, encroaching upon the police powers of the states, could be made legally effective by merely a change in the form of penalty imposed.

Powers of Congress.
The question presented, as the Government saw it, was whether an act of Congress imposing an excise tax could be invalidated on the "assumption" of Congress in enacting excise tax legislation, the nation,
he insisted, would be confronted
with "a serious dilemma."

The Government further suggested in presenting arguments that while a statute prohibited the doing of an act, and imposed a pecuniary punishment for its violation, it was a punitive penalty, as distinguished from a tax, but where the law did not prohibit, but merely imposed an excise tax for the privilege of doing something, as in the child labor law, it was a tax, even though it be,
in its practical effect, prohibitive.
While there may be little practical difference between a prohibitive excise tax and a penal prohibition, it was asserted there was a different exercise of governmental power involved.

Rights of the States.
Opponents of the act condemned
in presenting arguments that while a statute prohibited the doing of an act, and imposed a pecuniary punishment for its violation, it was a punitive penalty, as distinguished from a tax, but where the law did not prohibit, but merely imposed an excise tax for the privilege of doing something, as in the child labor
law, it was a tax, even though it be,
in its practical effect, prohibitive.
While there may be little practical
difference between a prohibitive excise tax and a penal prohibition, it
was asserted there was a different exercise of governmental power involved.

The dual form of government, the opponents concluded, gave neither the National nor State Governments the power to enact a law, the necessary effect of which would be a direct invasion of or encroachment upon an acknowledged exclusive power of the other.

WHISKY THIEVES GET 4214 PINTS AT DISTILLING FIRM

Hole Cut Through Brick Wall of Parker Co. Warehouse at 213 Market Street and 13 Barrels Taken.

Burglars made a rich haul at the warehouse of the Parker Distilling Co., 213 Market street yesterday morning, when they stole 4214 pints of whisky, after cutting a hole in the fire wall separating the warehouse from the distributing station of the G. J. Helmerich Tobacco Co., 207
Market street, in the same building.

Although the whisky, valued on a wholesale basis, was worth $2860, it would sell in drug stores at $3 a pint, for $12,642, the consumer paying that price plus the $3 average price of the prescription. Sold at "bootlegging" prices, $5 a pint, the stolen whisky would bring approximately $21,069.

Hole Cut in Brick Wall.
The burglars entered the building by prying the cover from a coal chute in the rear of the tobacco company's quarters. They used a freight elevator to reach the fourth floor and there cut a hole in the wall large enough to permit the passage of a 40-gallon barrel.

The bricks removed from the wall were thrown into a chimney.
The theft was discovered at 6:30
a. m. by Mrs. John Wolf, 203 Market street, who informed the police that she had seen five men loading barrels on a truck in the alley behind the building. The back door of the tobacco company's shipping room had been left open by the burglars.

Thirteen Barrels Taken Away.
Thirteen barrels and 44 pints in bottles were taken away. The burglars evidently had not finished their work, as 14 more barrels and 59 pints which had been removed from the distilling company's warehouse through the hole in the wall, were found on the fourth floor of the Laclede company's part of the building.

Fred J. Bartels, manager of the distilling company, told the police the stolen whisky was insured. Two police characters were arrested later when it was learned they had been seen on a truck answering the description of the one used in the burglary.

A committee of five Democrats, and a similar committee of Republicans, to be known as the Judicial Judgeships as are to be nominated,

CHARGES IN CASE OF ALLEGED 'SALTED' OIL WELL SAID DROPPED

A charge of grand larceny against John Ehrhardt of Clayton and Warren, and Austin Drew, 5737 Venon avenue, was nolle prossed in Circuit Judge Miller's court today, the Circuit Attorney having decided that there was no evidence to support the charge.

The case grew out of the complaint of George H. Black, an ad-juster, of 3908 De Tonty street, who "salted" oil well near Waterloo, Ill.
Subsequent to the return of the indictment, it was disclosed that Black had accepted a deed to the property on which the well was located, and in view of that fact the Circuit Attorney concluded there was no element of larceny in the case. "Before disposing of the case, however, the Circuit Attorney submitted the facts to the present grand jury.

ROMANIAN QUEEN MAY VISIT U. S. THIS FALL

Friends Urge Her to Postpone Coronation and Start for New York.

By the Associated Press. BUCHAREST, May 15.—Queen Marie of Rumania may forego her coronation this fall in order to visit the United States.

Since the signing of the armistice the queen has been planning to go to the United States, but pressing affairs in her own country and the expense of the long land and ocean journey have deterred her. Now invitations from friends and petitions from women's clubs and civic societies are pouring in on her so fast that she finds it difficult to resist them.

While the Queen has not received an official invitation from President Harding, it is known that the American Government would welcome and entertain her. The Rumanian Government, however, would prefer that the Queen receive a formal invitation from the White House in order that there might be no mistake concerning her status. She has not yet set any date for her departure, but her friends are urging her to postpone her coronation with King Ferdinand, which is set to take place in Transylvania, and start for New York, after she has fulfilled a few European court engagements.

No Film Enterprise. The Queen yesterday made it clear to the Associated Press that if she went to the United States it would be with the object of seeing the country and thanking in person the thousands of Americans who helped Rumania during and after the war. She said it was absurd to think that she would engage in any motion picture enterprise.

"I wish also," the queen added, "to see your big-hearted, sympathetic and humane President, your enterprising and clever men and your practical and resourceful women. I desire especially to talk with your women and get the benefit of their ideas, wisdom and experience."

"I hope the American people do not believe for an instant the idiotic invention that I am going to appear as an actress in motion pictures. It is altogether offensive to have my name linked with these things, especially when it is said I am to get such huge sums out of the enterprise. If one has to work quite as hard as I do to help others, I suppose one's name is bound occasionally to be taken in vain; but I am too busy with my manifold duties to turn a hair about these fantastic publications."

"I must plead with the American newspapers to be fair with me. How utterly uncharitable and reprehensible it is for some of them to say, as they did recently, that I had given up going to America, because I was jealous of the reception accorded Marshal Poch. My name seems to amuse the public."

"Love at First Sight." "I suppose that is the penalty one has to pay for having the courage not to be exactly like anybody else." The Queen discussed the forthcoming marriage of her second daughter, Princess Marie, to King Alexander of Yugoslavia. She said she was confident this would be a step in the direction of unity and peace in the Balkans.

"But," Marie added, "it is a mistake and unfair to say it is a political marriage. You know among Kings and Princesses there is such a thing as 'love at first sight.' That is what happened in this case. The young King had never met my daughter until he came to Bucharest last January. When he saw her he held out both hands and said: 'I need you; my country needs you. Will you come and help us.' That simple, frank plea won her heart."

NAVY IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE FROM SAVINGS OF DEPARTMENT
Radio Extensions and Increased Steaming Ability Possible Through Efforts of Personnel.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Equipment to extend the radio communication scope of 60 submarines from about 50 to 500 miles has been bought by the Navy Department, it was learned today, with savings in engineering maintenance funds made by engineering personnel afloat. The extent of the economies in use of engineering supplies on the active ships and the steadily increasing degree to which the engineering forces on the ships are making their own repairs afloat, it was announced at the Navy Department, has been astonishing and reflects the zeal with which the service has thrown itself into the task of bettering the navy by its own direct efforts.
Another project in progress in the department with funds made available by the work of the officers and men in the engine room forces of the fighting ships, it was added, would make a material increase in the cruising radius of the battleship fleet with raising large annual savings in fuel consumption. New evaporators for the ships already have been contracted for, with engineering savings and purer fresh water supplies will cut down the annual fuel bill by hundreds of thousands of dollars, it is said.
The cruising radius of the fleet depends on the fuel consumption of a ship to cover any given distance. With new equipment it is estimated a ship will show an increase of 10 per cent in steaming ability.

MURDER VERDICT IN RIVER CASE
By the Associated Press.
POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., May 15.—The body of William McCleese, chauffeur, which was found in the Black River, 30 miles south of here Friday, was disinterred and brought here this afternoon for a special inquest. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that the man met death at the hands of some person or persons unknown.
Pearl Hughes, a relative of McCleese, told the jury that McCleese had associated with persons she believed to be of questionable character. Sheriff Hogg last night advanced two theories regarding the crime. The first, that he believed McCleese to have been associated with a band of bootleggers, and when the likelihood of his telling on them developed, he was murdered and thrown into the river. His second theory is that he believed McCleese was involved in a triangular affair with a woman who some time ago lived in a houseboat on the Black River.
Not a Share of Notto-Oil Sold.
By the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, May 15.—Dr. Emanuel Noble, chief owner of the Noble oil fields in East, said yesterday that not a single share has been sold to the Standard Oil or any other company. No part of the property, which, despite nationalization, he and his company consider still belongs to them, has been sold, and reports from New York to that effect, he said, could only concern transactions between the Bolsheviks and the Standard Oil people.
Aviator Killed in Parachute Accident.
By the Associated Press.
VERNON, Tex., May 15.—Ed Lorette of Dallas, stunt aviator, was killed here yesterday when a belt strap holding his body to a parachute broke. Lorette plunged about 2000 feet and landed in a small body of water.

3 BEATTY BROTHERS ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Self-Defense to Be Plea, Counsel for Defense Tells Jury—Case Heard at Belleville.

A jury to try the case of Dr. James Beatty and his two brothers, John and Nephri Beatty, of Mascoutah, Ill., for the murder of Otto J. Klingenfus, a wealthy coal operator of Belleville, the selection of which began last Tuesday, was finally assembled today at Belleville, and it was announced that the hearing of testimony would begin during the afternoon. The three brothers are also under indictment for the murder of their brother, George Beatty, who was shot at the same time as Klingenfus.

The two men were killed Feb. 22, 1931, at a meeting of stockholders of the Beatty Bros. Coal Co. at Mascoutah. The three brothers on trial formed a faction that was opposed by Klingenfus and George and Roland Beatty. An argument arose over the financial affairs of the company, and Dr. James Beatty fired several shots. Klingenfus was killed instantly and George Beatty died from a bullet wound the following day.

State's Case Outlined. In outlining the State's case, J. A. Farmer, special counsel employed by the widow of Klingenfus, told the jury that the following facts would be shown: George Beatty, secretary of the company, was reading the minutes of a previous meeting, when John Beatty interrupted by asking why a resolution limiting the price of coal to stockholders of the company to 7 cents a bushel had been omitted.

A discussion followed. John Beatty said that he and his brother, Nephri, had been paying 16 cents a bushel. Klingenfus said that John and Nephri were entitled to a rebate. John Beatty then started toward Roland and George Beatty. Roland Beatty fled. Dr. James Beatty drew a revolver and waved a stove poker. As Roland was running out, he was hit on the head with the poker by Dr. Beatty, who then turned and fired a shot at George Beatty. Klingenfus, who had gone to the rescue of Roland Beatty, was then shot. Although the shots were fired by Dr. Beatty, his brothers, John and Nephri, were equally guilty because they had conspired with the doctor to cause trouble at the meeting which resulted in the killing of the two men.

Self-Defense to Be Plea. P. K. Johnson, representing the defendants, told the jury that it would be shown by the evidence that George and Roland Beatty and Klingenfus were the aggressors, and that Dr. Beatty fired in self-defense. There was no conspiracy, he contended. More than 100 witnesses are to be heard, a dozen, including Roland Beatty, having been summoned by the State. The defendants will plead self-defense.

50,000 DISABLED RESTORED TO JOBS BY BOARD IN YEAR

Persons Injured in Industries Assisted Toward Usefulness Through Federal Vocational Work.

34 STATES NOW AIDING ORGANIZATION

Vice Chairman of Board, in Paper Read Here, Describes Progress in Reclamation of Man Power.

About 50,000 disabled persons in 34 states have been assisted toward usefulness during the fiscal year of the Federal Board for Vocational Rehabilitation of Persons Disabled in Industry or Otherwise, was a statement in a paper of Harry L. Fidler, vice chairman of the Board, read today at the opening three-day national conference on industrial rehabilitation in Hotel Statler. In his paper Fidler said that his estimate was based upon from four to five months' average service in each case. He predicted that 90,000 cases would be assisted in 1924.

"Truly remarkable has been the progress of vocational rehabilitation during the last 24 months," the paper continued. "Two years ago it was only a project. Before June 2, 1920, only three or four states were engaged in any public program of restoring disabled workers to remunerative employment. Today 34 states are engaged in this task. The others are fast falling into line. The administrative staff in the 34 states numbers 125 persons. This staff has many times its own number of assistants, through co-operation with other agencies. One State has set up co-operative relations with more than 60 municipalities.

"Appeals to All Groups. The strength of industrial rehabilitation lies in its appeal to all groups. It is an unchallenged program. It enjoys the pleasant singularity of being one of those few movements in which employers and employees can united their enthusiasm.

"Today, and for the next two days, we are to make rehabilitation history. What we accomplish here will, I trust, in no small way affect the future of the great social program in which we are engaged. The reclamation of the nation's man-power in this time of stress is a matter of no small concern.

"Production With Little Waste. Today the thought of the great minds of industry is pointed toward great production with little waste. This is, of course, a worthy purpose, but coupled with it should be the desire to accomplish large production with a minimum of hazard and injury to labor, and a maximum of return to them, in a safety, physical comfort and happiness.

S. S. Riddle, chief of the rehabilitation Bureau of Pennsylvania, which existed before the Federal Board and subsidizing system was created in 1920, related remarkable instances of men injured in industry who bettered their original positions through training directed by the bureau, including the story of a shipyard laborer whose skull was fractured by a falling bolt and who three years later, by the acquisition of several languages, was enabled to hold a responsible position with a commercial firm.

Riddle said that the Pennsylvania bureau has handled the cases of 1913 injured persons, of which the majority were over 30 years old. Most of the cases were of injuries to hands. He said that no system could be employed of a specific training for a certain type of injury, but the ability and natural tendencies of each individual had to be considered. John A. Kratz, chief of the industrial division of the Federal Board, is presiding at the meetings and the attendants are supervisors and others engaged in the work in various states. An informal dinner of the delegates will be held tonight in Hotel Statler.

Don't Use Grit

to beautify the teeth

This scientific way removes film

Grit cannot keep the teeth free from dingy film. And it scratches the enamel. A soft polishing agent, such as is found in Pepsodent is the ideal agent to polish teeth.

But Pepsodent does more than polish. It combats the film successfully in a unique way. And that's the great essential.

Why teeth grow dingy

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. That film absorbs stains and becomes discolored. Then, if not removed, it forms dingy coats. Film is also the basis of tartar.

That cloudy film causes millions of teeth to lose their natural luster.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germes breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Old ways don't end it

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats film. That is why so many well-brushed teeth discolor and decay. Tooth troubles have been constantly increasing, until very few escape.

So dental science has long been seeking a way to fight that film. It has found by research two effective methods. Able authorities have amply proved them. Now leading dentists almost the world over advise their constant use.

A new tooth paste has been perfected, based on five modern requirements. The name is Pepsodent. These two film combatants are embodied in it for daily application. And a ten-day test is offered every home to show the new results.

Old methods wrong

Dental science has made other discoveries. It finds that the starch digestant in the saliva is there to digest starch deposits on teeth. Those deposits, if left, may ferment and form acids.

The alkalinity of saliva is to neutralize mouth acids—the cause of tooth decay.

But old-time tooth pastes, based on soap and chalk, reduced those protective factors. They did an actual harm.

So Pepsodent omits soap and chalk. Instead, it embodies elements which multiply the starch digestant in saliva, and multiply its alkalinity.

Thus every use of Pepsodent gives manifold power to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the mouth. That in itself means a new dental era.

Chaulmoogra Oil Leprosy Spe East Indians

Old Legend Related covered Remedy by Cultivation of Tree

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20 Wyatt Building

WASHINGTON, May 13—

science found, or rediscovered, cure for leprosy? For hundreds of years native India have used chaulmoogra from the seed of the kalaw tree treatment of the disease. It is being successfully used by physicians in the Hawaiian Islands. In 1920, Dr. J. T. McDonald, of the experimenters, wrote to Journal of the American Medical Association that 18 cases of leprosy apparently had been cured through the use of derivatives of chaulmoogra oil, and in 1921, in a supplementary communication, he reported that in one month 54 patients had been released on parole from Kalaiki leprosy hospital, in the city of Honolulu, after an examination by a committee of physicians as no longer a menace to the public health. Since October, 1918, said 142 patients had been part of the time of writing, more than two years later, not one suffered a relapse.

Dr. McDonald and Dr. A. L. D. Macdonald, of chemistry and biology, the University of Hawaii, come to be an established fact "that fatty acids of the chaulmoogra tree are specific in leprosy." The standard treatment consists of intramuscular injection of the acids. At first, the acids were also administered orally, but this practice dropped as unnecessary. The best form of the disease showed slowest improvement.

Study of the Tree Made.

The remarkable results obtained by Dr. Donald and McDonald led the Department of Agriculture to send an agricultural explorer, Joseph Rock, of the Office of Foreign and Plant Introduction, to study the tree which yields curative oil. It was considered important that the cultivation of the chaulmoogra tree should be encouraged, and a supply of seedlings be made available to meet the anticipated demand. Prof. Rock has just published a bulletin telling of his survey in Burma, Assam and Bengal.

Legend of East Indians.

Before going into technical details Prof. Rock recounts a native legend that illustrates the great faith of East Indians in the curative oil of the kalaw tree. It is from the "Mahawin," the history of the Buddhas and their Rahans, and is given by Prof. Rock as follows:

"This legend relates that a day of yore, before the Buddha, there reigned a King of Northern India by the name of King of Beaus. He was a very handsome man and a very substantial lock. Measures 42 1/2 inches long. Specially priced at $21.95. 'A Cedar Chest is Cheap Insurance'"

"At the same time Rama, of King of Benares, was living in a cave under the following circumstances. When King of Beaus became afflicted with leprosy, he sent his court physicians to him, but they failed to relieve his suffering or to improve his condition. He decided to abdicate the throne in favor of his son and the palace, went into the jungle and existed entirely on herbs and roots, but especially on the fruit of a large tree, which he called time he was completely cured, felt better and stronger than he lived in the palace surrounded by luxury. He lived in the cave of a large tree, which he called into a home.

"One day a tiger, when passing the cave, was attracted by the odor of a human being. He made frantic efforts to gain entrance to the cave. Pity was so horrible that he gave a piercing scream. He heard the cry from his hole and noted the direction whence it came. Next day he went in of the person who gave the cry. He discovered the man who lived in the cave. He was a human being, and after the usual explanation her circumstances asked her to come out, but she being shy and modest, he said: 'So Rama forced his way into the cave and carried her off to a low tree. He then made her brush roots and leaves of the tree which had wrought such a wonderful cure for him. She was cured, and Rama took Pity himself as his wife. Pity gave him 16 times, bearing a hunter from Benares. He came to this part of the jungle, recognized Rama as the form of Benares. Seeing so many Princes, the hunter asked where Rama explained the

Chaulmoogra Oil Now Known as Leprosy Specific in Use by East Indians Hundreds of Years Old Legend Relates How Native King Discovered Remedy by Eating Kalaw Fruit Cultivation of Tree Being Promoted.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Has science found, or rediscovered, a cure for leprosy?

For hundreds of years natives of India have used chaulmoogra oil, from the seed of the kalaw tree, in treatment of the disease. It is now being successfully used by physicians on the Hawaiian Islands.

In 1920, Dr. J. T. McDonald, one of the experimenters, wrote to the Journal of the American Medical Association that "cases of leprosy apparently had been cured through the use of derivatives of chaulmoogra oil, and in 1921, in a supplementary communication, he reported that in one month 64 patients had been released on parole from the Kala hospital, after an examination by a committee of physicians, as no longer a menace of the public health. Since October, 1918, he said, 142 patients had been paroled, and at the time of writing, more than two years later, not one had suffered a relapse.

Dr. McDonald and Dr. A. L. Dean, professor of chemistry and head of the University of Hawaii, consider it to be an established fact "that the fatty acids of the chaulmoogra seeds are specific for leprosy."

The standard treatment consists of intramuscular injection of the acids. At first, the acids were also administered orally, but this practice was dropped as unnecessary. The mild effects of the disease showed the slowest improvement.

Study of the Tree Made.

The remarkable results obtained by Dean and McDonald led the Department of Agriculture to send an agricultural explorer, Joseph P. Rock, of the Office of Foreign Seed and Plant Introduction, to India, with instructions to make a thorough study of the tree which yielded the curative oil. It was considered highly important that the cultivation of the chaulmoogra tree should be promoted as a means of curing the disease, and the anticipated demand. Prof. Rock has just published a bulletin telling of his survey in Siam, Burma, Assam and Bengal.

Legend of Kalaw Indians.

Before going into technical details, Prof. Rock recounts a native legend that illustrates the great faith of the Kalaw Indians in the curative properties of the kalaw tree. The story is from the "Mahawin," the history of the Buddhists and their Rahanadas, and is given by Prof. Rock as follows:

"This legend relates that in the days of yore, before the time of Buddha, there reigned a King of Northern India by the name of Ok-sa-ru. This King had five sons and five daughters. The eldest son, who called himself, and their sister, the eldest daughter, who called herself, the name of Ok-sa-ru, the name of the King, and the name of the Queen, were much beloved and revered, became a legend. The brothers and sisters, for fear of sounding like the King, took to the jungle, as if going on a pleasure trip, and when they arrived at a certain place where there was a cave they left her there with all kinds of provisions. The cave, which had a very narrow entrance, was well protected.

At the same time Rama, once King of Benares, was living in the jungle under the following circumstances. When King of Benares, he became afflicted with leprosy, and although his court physicians did all they could to relieve him from his sufferings or to improve his condition, he decided to abandon the throne in favor of his son and, leaving the palace, went into the jungle and existed entirely on herbs and roots, but especially on the fruits and leaves of the kalaw tree. After a time he was completely cured and felt better and stronger than when he lived in the palace surrounded with luxury. He lived in the hollow of a large tree, which he converted into a home.

Scream Attracted Rama.

One day a tiger, when prowling near Piy's cave, was attracted by the odor of a human being. It made frantic efforts to gain entrance to the cave. Piy was so horrified that he gave a piercing scream. Rama heard the cry from his hollow tree and noted the direction whence it came. Next day he went in search of the person who gave the agonizing cry. He discovered the cave and Piy, hearing a human voice, was startled and, after the usual greetings, explained her circumstances. He asked her to come out, but she refused, saying shy and modest.

"So Rama forced his way into the cave and carried her off to his hollow tree. He then made her eat the fruits and leaves of the kalaw tree, which had wrought such a wonderful cure for him. She was soon cured, and Rama took Piy away from himself as his wife. Piy gave birth to twins 14 times, bearing 32 sons. A hunter from Benares, one day came to this part of the jungle and recognized Rama as the former King of Benares. Seeing so many young princes, the hunter asked who they were. Rama explained the circum-

CHILE AND PERU BEGIN CONFERENCE OVER TACNA-ARICA

Hughes in Opening Meeting at Washington Calls It Inspiring Example of Practice of Peace.

GUESTS MAKE UP A DISTINGUISHED GROUP

Diplomatic Observers See Promise of Success in Spirit Which Animates Opening Session.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The conference of Chile and Peru over the long disputed Tacna-Arica problem was formally opened at 12:15 today by Secretary Hughes with a prediction that it not only would herald a new day of International Amity in the Western Hemisphere but would furnish to the whole world "a needed and inspiring example of the practice of peace."

Both the time and place of meeting, declared Hughes, were auspicious for the healing of old wounds and the cementing of whatever differences may exist in Latin-American. He recalled that the Pan-American Union building, where negotiations are to take place, recently had been the scene of great decisions by Powers who gathered there during the Washington arms conference, and expressed conviction that the Chilean-Peruvian discussions would be characterized by similar triumphs of "peace of reason."

"Harbinger of a Better Day."

"There could be no more agreeable harbinger of a better day and of a lasting peace upon this hemisphere," he said, "than the convening of this conference of the representatives of the republics of Chile and Peru. I congratulate you on the high purpose and the noble and conciliatory spirit which has animated both Governments in the approach to this meeting and upon the earnest desire which both have manifested that through this friendly intercourse a mutually satisfactory settlement may be found. Permit me to express not only the hope but the firm conviction that your zealous and well directed endeavors dominated by this friendly spirit will be crowned with complete success."

The Secretary read the invitation to the conference sent to the Chilean and Peruvian Governments last January at the personal direction of President Harding, and continued:

"You have the privilege and responsibility of exceptional opportunity. Perhaps no event has ever been contemplated by the American people that has deeper interest and more fervent hope. The only relief for a troubled world is resort to the processes of reason in lieu of force. Direct and candid interchange, a sincere desire to make an amicable adjustment, the promotion of mutual understanding and the determination to avoid unnecessary points of difference in order that attention may be centered upon what is fair and practicable—these are of the essence of the processes of reason.

Pathway to Enduring Concord.

"The pathway to an enduring concord and to the prosperity of a mutually helpful life lies open before you. What is done here will have a lasting effect upon the security and happiness of all people inasmuch as the success of this conference through your agreement will not only demonstrate your wisdom and lofty conception of duty, but will furnish the world with a needed and inspiring example of the practice of peace."

The Government of the United States gives you welcome and God speed."

Luis Izquierdo and Melton Porras, representing Chile and Peru, respectively, expressed a united determination to approach the negotiations with a will for a just settlement.

A Distinguished Gathering.

The utterances of the statesmen of the three nations delivered in the hall of the American Union were received with resounding applause by a distinguished gathering of officials, including the diplomatic representatives of most of the governments of the world.

Entirely of a preliminary character, the opening session lasted for 20 minutes, and gave little index to the possible trend of the private negotiations to begin tomorrow. Three times in his brief address Secretary Hughes referred to the purpose of the Washington negotiations as an effort to make effective the "unfulfilled provisions" of the treaty of Ancón.

Today's session was the first in 12 years, when fully accredited plenipotentiaries of Chile and Peru had been placed side by side at a diplomatic table. It marked the resumption of relations formally broken off in 1910, although there have since been roundabout diplomatic exchanges.

Promise of Success Seen.

In the spirit which animated the opening day, diplomatic observers here predicted a successful conclusion of success. Officially, however, realized that with the impetus of the

EVEN LOGIC FAILS AS KEY TO THE RUSSIAN PROBLEM, BANKER VANDERLIP WRITES

Dickering on Issue at Genoa on Plane of Horse Trade, He Says—Empty Stomach Holds Red Army in Check.

By FRANK A. VANDERLIP.
American Banker, Who is at Genoa, Observing the Conference of European Powers, on His Own Initiative.

GENOA, May 15.—Both Mr. Barthou and Lloyd George have had their eye on the move to ask America to participate in a new commission for the settlement of Russian affairs. The matter has been informally discussed for several days. The British Premier hoped to "take home from Genoa" the accomplishment of bringing America into the discussion.

But the French delegate made the first public move by using as an argument for the appointment of a commission by the various Governments, instead of by the conference, the suggestion that, under such an arrangement, the United States could be asked to participate, but could not if the commission were appointed by the conference.

I do not think it likely that I will be accused by anyone of bolshevist sympathies. Nevertheless, I cannot fail to see the logic of this contention.

Logic and Horse Trading.

The Russians point out that the soviet government is regarded as the legitimate unbroken successor of the late Czar's government and therefore liable for all its debts. Both the Czarist and Kerevsky governments as well as any they have caused themselves.

Therefore, they say, they must also be considered in the same light as the legitimate successor of the Czarist and Kerevsky governments in the matter of claims, as an offset to the debts, for damages inflicted by powers which were not at war with them, but which supplied war munitions and funds in vast amounts to their enemies on all borders.

The Powers waive aside this claim as too absurd for discussion. Says the Czarist, it is a strictly logical deduction. But the difficulty of applying logic is about the same as being strictly logical in removing household goods when a house is on fire. Russia is in a position where she needs financial help. Logic is thrown to the winds by both sides and the matter becomes no more logical than a horse trade.

The failure of the campaign against Russia in 1919 illustrated the difficulty. The Red Army got within 13 miles of Warsaw and was temporarily halted. It had no supplies that it could bring up from the rear. The army would mean hunger and confusion.

The difficulty of any invasion to the West would be similar. Without supplies in the rear, a brief halt in the army and it would mean hunger and confusion.

HEARST EXPECTED SOON TO GET IN GOVERNORSHIP RACE

Connors, New York Up-State Manager for Publisher, Says "He's Got to Run" and Is a "Regular."

AVERS DEMOCRATS WILL NAME HIM

Stepping Stone to Washington Said to Have Appeared in Political Plans of Newspaper Owner.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 15.—With the return to New York of William Randolph Hearst and a quick review by him of the work of his lieutenants up-State things have shaped up rapidly toward an early announcement by the newspaper publisher of his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination of the Democratic Party.

On his way Hearst gave an interview in Chicago, saying he thought Mayor Hylan was the type of man needed in the Governor's chair. That was nothing more than a kindly remembrance of New York City's Mayor was demonstrated after Hearst had reached the city and William J. Connors of Buffalo, former Democratic State chairman, and manager of Hearst's up-State political activities, having conferred with the publisher, made this announcement:

"There is nothing to it. Mr. Hearst will be the next Democratic nominee for Governor."

"Will Mr. Hearst be willing?"

"He's got to run," was the reply. "Hearst is a regular and will do what the party wants him to do." Whereupon the up-State manager said that the publisher had been thinking of the gubernatorial nomination for some time and that he had been waiting for a chance to make a move. He declared that he had been elected and the movement was growing. Connors predicted kindly delegations from up-State of several hundred persons soon would be on their way to New York to ask Hearst to head the Democratic fight.

The Connors declaration assumed importance because Hearst, in Chicago, refused to answer definitely questions about his prospective candidacy until he had seen his Buffalo friends.

Connors let it be known that he had talked with Charles F. Murphy, Tammany chief, recently, though it was not clear that the discussion of Governor was general, rather than particular.

"Mr. Murphy is waiting to hear from up-State," Connors explained. "He is going to run against public sentiment. It won't do. If the up-State people want Hearst they will take him down here."

This declaration was in line with authoritative information which came directly from Tammany Hall that the New Yorkers had an "open mind" so far as Hearst is concerned.

Connors had no such reluctance. "Mr. Hearst is going to be nominated by the Democratic party, and if we don't elect him," he added, "and what is more, we are going to give him the nomination."

Questioned as to specific counties, he said Erie would be for Hearst and Onondaga and Monroe "were friendly."

Efforts to reach Hearst yesterday at his Riverside Drive home were unavailing. It has been said that in the publisher's political plans Albany appears a stepping stone to Washington.

Government Must Adjust Rates Before Turning Over Control of Barge Line, Col. Ashburn Says

Assistant Chief of Inland Waterways Service Says Railroads Receive Too High Proportion of Joint Charges.

The Federal Government cannot safely relinquish the operation of the barge fleet until the Interstate Commerce Commission establishes for it a more remunerative division of freight on goods hauled jointly by barge and rail line. In the opinion of Col. T. Q. Ashburn, Assistant Chief of the Inland Waterways Service of the War Department, who came to St. Louis yesterday to complete the Government lease to Edward F. Goitra of the new fleet built for service upon the Upper Mississippi.

About 60 per cent of the freight now moving on the lower Mississippi is delivered to ultimate destination or brought to the river by the railroads. For this service they have been receiving as high as 97 per cent of the freight charge for 40 per cent of the haul and in nearly every division made, the barge line receives a much smaller proportion than the rail lines, though its service is commonly much greater.

Question to Be Argued.

A protest and application for more equitable division will be argued before the Interstate Commerce Commission next Saturday. "The barge line can and is existing in the face of unfair discrimination," Col. Ashburn said, "but we feel that the future of all inland water transportation would be precarious if the present fleet should go to private operation before the discrimination is corrected. The Government, as an operating agency, has greater prestige and more authority than a private operator. 'Until the Commission has ruled in sufficient cases to strongly indicate its intention to give a fair division, the line cannot safely be given over to private operation. If the present case before the Commission fails, then we must try again and failing once more, we then will be compelled to seek a command from Congress for a fairer chance for river navigation to take its proper place in the transportation system of the country."

Railroads' Argument.

"Just now the railroads are seeking to disturb confidence that freight can move cheaper upon water than upon rail by the fact that argument that the barge fleet is not being charged with maintenance of way—with the money expended upon river improvement—while they are compelled to charge rates which will maintain track and roadbed. Admitting for a moment that unworthy premise, let them not forget that 60 per cent of all money spent upon the Mississippi River has been spent by the states to create a navigable channel, but the primary object was to shut out water from valuable land."

"Of course the rivers are a transportation highway open to any operator, but who, but the Illinois Central, is permitted to operate upon the Illinois Central tracks? However, the purpose of the railroads in making this preposterous representation at this time is quite apparent—they are hoping that, by asserting their right of the lower Mississippi River, they will lead the Interstate Commerce Commission to support the unfair divisions which they now are imposing upon the water carrier. The barge line demands a fair, not hogish, and granted, as they should be, will tend toward a still greater saving to shippers in the Mississippi Valley."

Points Out Benefits.

Col. Ashburn said that he wanted to bring to the attention of St. Louis shippers some of the larger benefits that they may exact from the river. "The chief benefits so far taken by shippers is in reaching markets with their finished products," he said. "That benefit can be doubled if the river is used likewise to bring in raw materials."

"Let us consider cotton. Much of that primary raw material of the great St. Louis territory in the Southwest now moves to North-eastern states by rail, and is returned to the Southwest in the form of cotton goods by rail. The transportation going and coming, is a big item in the price that the South-west pays for clothing. Now, what can the river do to cut that cost? First, cotton can move as it did in the bygone days of packer's property, south upon the river to the Gulf and thence by ocean carrier to the East and West. Or it can come to St. Louis by river and take its present movement by rail to the mills. In either case, the cost of raw material has been cut and the resulting savings is that the lowered cost will be reflected in the price to the ultimate consumer."

Hides Sent Down River.

"Then the New England mills can further decrease that, saving by abandoning the rail route of shipping to the great St. Louis jobbing houses and send up their cotton piece goods back over the Atlantic and the Gulf to New Orleans and up the river to St. Louis."

"How are New England shoe manufacturers trying to keep abreast of your great St. Louis factories? By using the Mississippi River. Recently the barge line received a consignment of Western hides to carry down the river to an ocean carrier at New Orleans for delivery to New England. "Could not South American hides move on an all-water route to St. Louis tanneries and could not those tanneries deliver leather to St. Louis shoe plants at a price cheaper than leather bought in the East for manufacture into shoes in your city? Again, the saving would be reflected in the price to the ultimate consumer."

"This movement upon the river tends to establish a very powerful cycle that can do much to bring down prices, and bringing down prices to restore prosperity that would be no beneficial to the railroads. I feel that the railroads are very short-sighted in imposing the slightest obstacle to the success of the river experiment. Lowered prices, which the river can bestow in proportion to the use made of it, mean greater demand, greater demand means more work, more work means a greater purchasing power, more purchases mean more commerce, and who would profit more than the railroads by a restoration of commerce?"

Lower River Contract Cancelled.

Col. Ashburn said that the new upper river fleet would be delivered to Goitra before next Saturday. However, he brought with him a formal order of the Secretary of War canceling the contract obtained by Goitra on the last day of the Wilson administration, permitting him to use the fleet on the lower Mississippi at charges 80 per cent of rail charges, which is the rate of the present Government operation there.

"We will not disturb Goitra's contracts for a year. In the meantime, the river which he entered into on the basis of his agreement gained from Secretary of War Baker," Col. Ashburn said, "but he will be permitted to make no new contracts with the rate unless by permission and only on cargoes which the equipment of the present operation cannot carry."

"I will recommend to Goitra that he place at least a portion of his fleet in service upon the upper river, though the War Department has no authority to compel him to operate there, even though the fleet was built for the upper river. I will point out to him that the department stands ready to co-ordinate an upper river operation with the lower, so that an all-water route from the Twin Cities to the Gulf would be provided. Goods delivered at New Orleans consigned to the upper river could be loaded in Goitra barges, carried by the Government operation to St. Louis, delivered to Goitra here and, without breaking bulk, move to destination north. We stand ready to make an equitable division of rates with Goitra for such a movement."

Contract Complied With.

"Goitra will operate the new fleet. He has complied with the terms of his contract, including a $500,000 bond to maintain the fleet and pay its operation, and has furnished insurance, the first year's premium on which was approximately $17,000. The department stands ready to let Goitra in every way possible in making this new fleet a stamper upon the river, but will insist that it become a supplementary agency, rather than a competitor of service already established."

Goitra's contract provides that all earnings of the fleet in excess of the operating cost shall go into escrow to be applied, if he elects to purchase the fleet, toward the purchase price. However, the Government first will take from the sum in escrow an amount equivalent to a return of four and one-half per cent of the cost of the fleet, which was $2,560,000.

The purchase price will not be the construction cost, but a price to be fixed by a representative of the War Department and a representative of Goitra who, if they fail to agree, will summon a third appraiser. Payment for the fleet may be extended over 15 years.

Col. Ashburn said that Secretary Weeks recently had consented to the delivery of six concrete barges now at Norfolk to the Mississippi for use in carrying oil or other liquid cargoes, such as molasses. These barges have a capacity of 3000 gallons.

Theodore Brent, Federal manager of the operation, has frequently had offerings calling for this type of barge but has been compelled to decline them because of lack of proper equipment.

WOMAN CANDIDATE FOR HOUSE IS FOR STRICT PUBLIC ECONOMY

First Nominated in Indiana for Congress Outlines Policies to Be Followed if Elected.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PLYMOUTH, Ind., May 15.—Esther Kathleen O'Keefe of this city is the first woman to be nominated for Congress in Indiana. She won over three men and carried six out of seven counties with a plurality of 2779 over her closest opponent.

"I won the nomination by talking with little groups of people whenever they would listen," said she. "I tried to present my case clearly. I believe in the people's confidence in my sincerity."

"I believe equality of suffrage means equality of opportunity for service, and real constructive service to the country needs the women of the Middle West have awakened to the fact that it is only through the united political and economic action of the men and women that we can develop into a peace-loving, forward-looking people."

"The keynote of my platform is strict public economy. Government is a public trust. It is the people's property. I believe no more taxes should be levied than are absolutely necessary to finance the Government economically administered."

Robbery and Insurance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In your issue of May 11 you say, editorially, under the above title: "To insure the payroll is a necessary and legitimate precaution against loss, but when insurance invites carelessness in the handling of large sums it becomes a burden to society and a boon to outlaws."

And in speaking of the "amazing sums taken in payroll robberies" and "delightful holdups in St. Louis in the last year or two, you ascribe the success of the robbers as being probably due to failure on the part of the robbed concerns to take all possible precautions, and the reason for such failure the insurance which the concerns carry.

As one of the principal companies writing insurances against robberies on the streets or in offices or in mercantile or manufacturing plants, we subscribe fully to your statement that "to insure the payroll is a necessary and legitimate precaution against loss," and we admit that in some instances insurance may induce carelessness on the part of the insured concerns who may, as you suggest, raise question as to why they should pay guards or put more men in charge of cash consignments when they already pay insurance.

Your editorial forces the inference that the insurance companies are indifferent to such carelessness on the part of the concerns which they insure. To this extent you do the insurance companies great injustice. Speaking generally, the companies exercise a high degree of care in the "selection of risks," and when undue carelessness is evidenced the risks are declined.

While discounts from the premium charges are made for concerns who are surrounded by insured property, the companies have underwriting rules which they require rigidly observed. For example, the paymaster or messenger having in his custody money in excess of $500, or as a maximum, $750, is required to be accompanied by at least one guard; and when having in his custody money in excess of $1,000, he is required to be accompanied by at least two guards; and when having in excess of $50,000, he is required to be accompanied by from three to even five guards.

In addition, recognizing that time is the very essence of a successful robbery on the streets, oftentimes it is required that the money be in a small, unmarked, unmarked receptacle securely attached by suitable steel chain to the person of the paymaster or messenger. It is doubtful whether there is an insurance company in the world that does not all its influence to bear on having risks properly protected, preferring increased protection together with decreased premiums rather than lack of protection and increased premiums.

It is the fact that the League of Women Voters declined to hold a reception at the rooms of the senior Senator from Missouri, James A. There are some women voters who would object very seriously to being put on record as indorsing the attitude of the junior Senator from Missouri in regard to the buying of seats in the Senate.

Democracy and the Bishops.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It is not surprising that the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the nineteenth quadrennial general conference at Hot Springs, Ark., expressed in their Episcopal address disapprobation of the growing demand for the democratization of Methodism. The Bishops would be the first to feel the pinch of democracy if an increased measure of it were injected into the Methodist system. The life tenure of the Bishops is the first objective at which the drive for democratization is directed. It is significant that six leading annual conferences of the church have sent to the general conference memorials demanding that the life tenure be abolished and that Bishops be elected for only a four-year term. A large number of laymen in various sections of the country are said to have organized a movement for revision of the life tenure.

All of which, naturally, does not please the Bishops and they hasten to say that the church, under the absolute rule of the Bishops, is democratic enough, and they suggest, with a curious disparagement of the democratic impulses of American Methodists, that the desire for more democracy does not spring from the membership of the church but is "of alien origin."

It will take more than the disapprobation of the Bishops to divert attention from a movement which is aimed at the autocracy of the bishops. It is difficult to imagine anything more anomalous than the undemocratic of the Methodist system in a world that has just been bled white in a war for democracy.

THE CONVENTION'S TASK

It is needless to emphasize the importance of the work of the constitutional convention which opens in Jefferson City today. The event is the culmination of a long campaign for the revision of the Constitution in accord with the present needs of the people and the conditions which have been created by modern progress.

The convention lacks organized and systematized preparation for its task. No constitutional digest embodying a study of constitutional law and of new constitutions has been prepared for it by an authorized commission. Nevertheless, available information has been submitted for its consideration by the New Constitution Association, and the Post-Dispatch has published an able and exhaustive series of articles on the history and development of Constitutions in Missouri and elsewhere and upon the general subject of constitutional requirements by Dr. Isidor Loeb of Missouri University, who is a recognized leading authority. Dr. Loeb's articles will be supplied the members of the convention for reference. Doubtless some of the delegates have made preparatory studies of the subject.

The convention will not lack advice and counsel from many sources, particularly from the representatives of special interests which seek special safeguards or opportunities in the new Constitution. The most important task of the delegates will be to avoid embodying in the Constitution any special legislation for any interest or group of people and to hold strictly to the sound principles and limits of constitutional law. It should deal only with fundamentals upon which the government is based and directed and legislation is founded.

The principles of justice and liberty which underlie American institutions and which are essential of constitutional government should be preserved in the Constitution. The proper functions of government and the rights of citizens should be clearly defined. The government should be organized to perform its functions honestly and efficiently and a judicial system provided which will insure promptness and equity in the enforcement of law and the administration of justice.

The tax system is one of the most important concerns of the convention. It is imperative that the present system be revised so that the proper sources of revenue may be reached and the tax burdens fairly distributed.

The principle of home rule in all local matters for all the cities and counties of the State should be established without possibility of question, and with safeguards against dishonesty or oppression, ample freedom assured local governments in the issuance of bonds and the levying of taxes to meet the needs of growing communities for development, improvement and educational purposes.

Principles do not change—they are eternal. The main object of a Constitution is to conserve the rights and liberties of the people against governmental oppression and the tyranny of either officials or popular majorities. Methods and conditions change. The prime task, therefore, of constitution makers is to adhere to the principles of free republican government and to apply these principles to changed conditions. Nothing has been found in government which is an improvement upon the fundamentals of the republican government founded by the fathers. But new social, industrial and commercial conditions have arisen which require new methods to meet the demands of progress. The application of old principles to new conditions is the whole task of the convention.

ECONOMY, NOT AMPUTATION.

The Board of Aldermen is oscillating between two alternatives. Regarding the proposed ordinance to raise the city tax rate for the current fiscal year from $2.45 per $100 valuation to $2.55, President Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, who is also a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, declares: "Not until I am shown that such an increase is absolutely necessary will I vote for this bill." The other side of the case is represented by Comptroller Nolte, who says that if the proposed rate is not accepted "I predict that again this year hundreds of faithful city employees will be laid off because of lack of funds, and I also predict that park and playground activities will be curtailed, and the swimming pools may not open at all."

The Board of Aldermen unquestionably is justified in its apprehension of waste and inefficiency in the application of funds, but it should not forget that it is elected by the people to perform the functions of government. That is its first duty. If these functions cannot or are not being performed because of failure to make use of the taxing power within reasonable limits, then it is the duty of the board to make further use of that power. The responsibility for waste then lies upon the administrative departments and the Mayor, and it is for them to make their reckoning with the taxpayers.

The board is absolutely right, however, in its desire to investigate the Comptroller's estimates and seek more light on every phase of the situation. Pointing out wastes and ways and means of eliminating them would be the board's greatest service to the taxpayers. Cutting off the city's normal and rightful activities is not economy. It is going out of business. When the taxpayers are pinched hard enough they will take measures of their own to institute a systematic and reliable check on the municipality's use of funds.

THE INSIDE ROBBER.

Feeling in Moberly is said to be inclined to the protection of the officials of the defunct Farmers and Merchants' Bank who looted the little institution of an astounding sum of money. Many of the depositors, it is said, express themselves as merely wanting to recover their money. They make no comment on possible prosecution.

Certainly that is a pious wish. The only trouble with it is that it is inconsistent with the facts. What makes the manipulation of the bank's funds so serious a crime is that the depositors will not get back all of their money. The defaulting officials, instead of knocking down the people on the street and going through their pockets, worked a deception which was far more remunerative in results and destructive in its effects. They cultivated public trust, secured the money by consent of the owners, speculated with it against law and morality and lost it.

The result is loss to the innocent and a rebuff to public confidence which is essential to the healthy functioning of our entire financial and business system. Thrift becomes a farce when the fruit of thrift is made a plaything of betrayers of the public trust. Misuse of bank funds is as inimical to the life of business as social vice is to the life of society and the home. It is more than a statutory crime. It is a crime which, despite optimistic (not good) intentions, should be subject to the special condemnation of the public because its logical effect is to make a mockery of honest endeavor and of business confidence which are the corner stones of material and social progress.

Public condemnation and legal prosecution should make it hot for every rascal who tampers with a bank from the inside.

The Tokio guidebook says the moods of citizens change with the seasons. Ditto here, at least with the ice men and baseball fans.

THE PERFECT OPPORTUNITY.

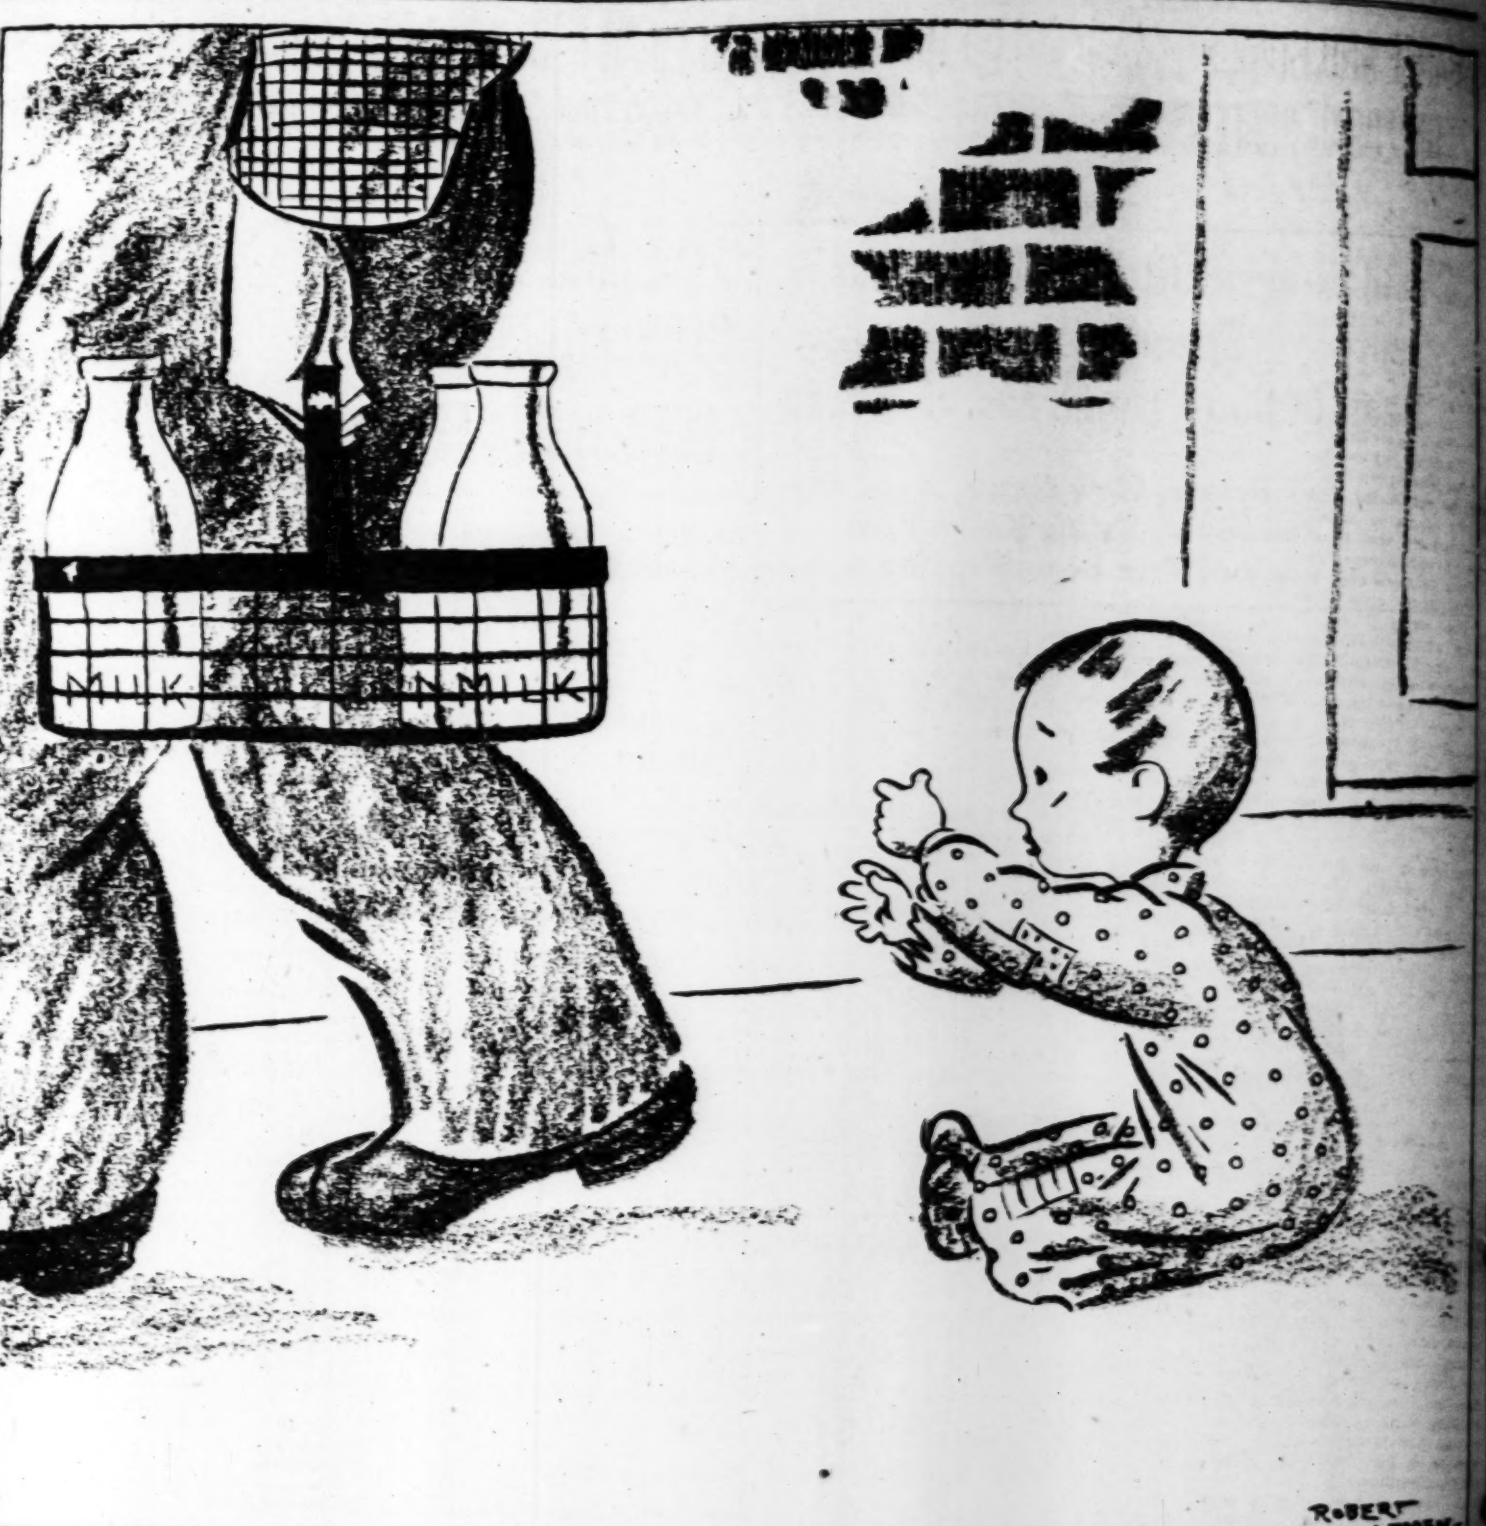

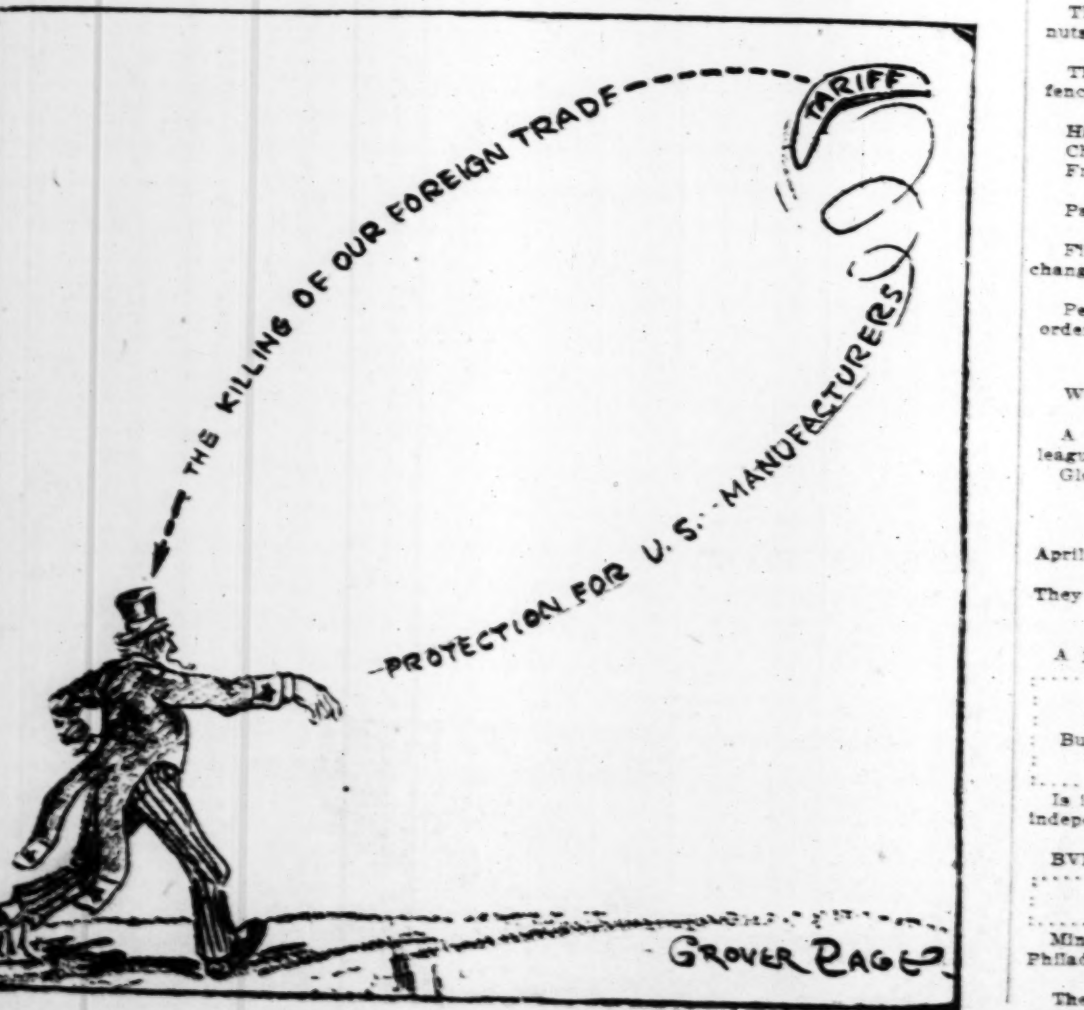

F. Trubee Davidson, son of the late H. P. Davidson, embarks upon a political career without a single handicap, unless it be the very bounty of his resources. His father has left him a fortune of $450,000 to shield him from any adverse winds that may blow upon the course he has deliberately, and with his father's encouragement, chosen in the public service. He is studying law at Columbia University and already holds a seat in the New York Legislature from the silk-stocking district represented before him by young Theodore Roosevelt. He has an honorable war record as an aviator, he is young, healthy and handsome. What is to come of it?

All depends, obviously, on the virility of Mr. Davidson. Never having himself been confronted with the problems of a poor man, never having tasted the challenge to faith, ambition and resolve that comes to a youth without artificial resources, he must supply these stimuli and the accompanying point of view from his imagination. This is a task possibly as serious as that of the man whose very lack of a paternal bonus sets in motion those exhaustless springs of human nature which, with will and vision, develop the leaders of their generation.

The classical example of political success despite the enervating tendencies of wealth is Theodore Roosevelt. His native virility, however, is not often duplicated. He had a problem, moreover, not dissimilar to that of the unendowed youth. When he had fought and won his battle for health there remained on hand a driving power and a resolution that served him handsomely in his subsequent career. Young Davidson has at least the surface opportunities of Roosevelt. How much he loves right and truth and justice and what wisdom he employs in their cause will determine what he makes of it.

JUST A MINUTE

SOME of us who have wondered about banks and bankers, whether we can afford all the banking facilities we have, and if in making banks impossible we have not perhaps bitten off more than we can chew, will be interested in the following paragraph from an address made on last week before the American Bankers' Association by Mr. John G. Lonsdale, President of the St. Louis National Bank of Commerce:

The banker has changed from a mere dealer in money into a politician. He is the veritable Pooh Bah of Business. Lord High Keeper of the Wampum, Chamberlain of Defuncto Businesses, Chief High Adviser to the Doubtful and High Executioner of the Delinquent. That is what we feared is the case, if Mr. Lonsdale will permit us a humorous comment upon his own humorous observation. Some of us are afraid we can't keep all these things up in the kindly fashion, and we would give a pretty penny to know what it is really costing.

THE ETHICS OF GOVERNMENT.

The aboriginal Left and Right had concluded to stand with the Center for the limited degree of social control, and the baying of the demagogue howls sounded a gentle diminuendo.

"It is not the ideal thing," the Right wing leaders had said to their clansmen, "but it seems to us the part of wisdom to go in. Pure individualism is all right in theory, but it needs some dilution for daily use. We must flock together for mutual safety, whatever we may think about fellowship. If any of you doubt the wisdom of playing a lone hand against the bear—wolf phantasies, there will be no holding up of passports. We go into this combination from the motive of social self-preservation. We join with other men in submitting to governmental coercion for the safeguarding of life and property and for that end society. Each man remains the judge of his own further welfare. Altruism will remain the individually determined function that it is. Our own personal conscience and judgment shall tell us when, where and to what extent we should be bound. We will not stand for governmental dictation in this quarter where the very essence and worth of moral personality reside. We join the body social on the explicit understanding that the line between order coercion and welfare coercion shall be drawn as sharply as men in their wisdom can draw it. We recognize that that line cannot be drawn with absolute definiteness, but we recognize that men can, if they will, draw it with approximate accuracy."

"The Chief pro tem pounded his tem-tom. Are you ready for the question? The 'Ayes' seem to have it. The 'Ayes' have it. The society is organized. Silence in the camp. A cluster of hoofs. The belated medicine man hitting the high places and swinging his rattle furiously. The White Father has come from the land of the Rising Sun and he should be honored. He has spoken with the Great Spirit, who indorses the proposed measure. The combination is not only necessary to a social life, it is also ethical. It is reasonable. We ought to merge our individuality in that of the tribe, not only for security of life and property, but for the general welfare of all. It is in all of the White Man's constitutions. Hoorsay!"

The leaders of the Left beamed. The leader of the Right drew himself up slowly. He folded his arms, turned toward the Left wing and scowled in silence. "Rube," he grunted at last, with the expression of a man who is trapped, "Dull uncertainty hovered over the great Center."

A sputtering was heard near by. The fact was in the air. S. D. MERTON.

RIGHTS OF SELF AND COMMUNITY.

Ex-Governor Charles N. Haskell of Oklahoma is recent address, do we realize that in recent years by our own voluntary vote and act we have so completely surrendered the affairs of government into the hands of the theorist and the dreamer, whose good intentions have not been blessed by the guiding hand of practical experience, that such declarations of patriotic and unselfish leaders as Washington and Lincoln have been forgotten and their policies so completely subordinated that our so-called glorious land of liberty is but a dream of years ago; that the terms "inherent right of the citizen," "individual privilege of the citizen," "local self-government by the local people," are things of yesterday not countenanced nor enjoyed today; that legislative activity has completely eliminated the sacred, inherent right of the individual, and centralized government completely restricted and even whimsical local self-government. For a time the whimsicality of our country was the bulwark of defense against these invasions. And let us not be blind to the fact that today the judiciary is constantly yielding its solemn privileges and duty to legislative invasion, and the rights of the individual and the community that were sacred yesterday are forgotten and denied today. And the restrictive policy brings with it attendant evils, depicting the gradual breaking down of the young man's moral fiber to the point where he forgoes mother, sweet heart and early prospects of honor and uprightness in a barnstorming, madcap comedy company. FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

The Fountain of Youth, as Ponce de Leon expected to find it, never existed;

Yet there is a fountain of youth, yes, millions of them, right in this country,

For from every clean, healthy cow flows a wonderful tissue-building fluid—milk—

Which, when served pure and fresh, as at CHILDS, is the greatest youth-restoring drink in existence.

Safeguarded from pollution, and served in clean and comfortable surroundings.

Furniture Disarranged in Room—Was Member of Old Family in Okmulgee, Ok.

By the Associated Press.

OKMULGEE, Ok., May 12.—The body of Russell Eldred, 25 years old, son of one of Okmulgee's oldest families, was found yesterday in the Eldred residence here by a real estate agent who had gone to open the house in preparation for the return of Mrs. E. B. Eldred, the man's mother, who is expected to return soon from Pennsylvania. Police say he had been dead about three weeks.

The room in which the body was found was disarranged. Authorities expressed belief that the decomposed state of the body might preclude any possibility of determining whether young Eldred was murdered. Two pistols found in the room showed no signs of having been used.

Eldred last fall accompanied his mother to Pennsylvania, where she went to the bedside of her father who was ill and stayed with her there until March 2. Luther Finch, the real estate agent, told authorities. Finch added that he received a letter yesterday from Mrs. Eldred in which she expressed concern at having received no word from her son since last March.

The boy's return here is a mystery. Among the large number of his acquaintances not one has been found who had seen him for several months, and the fact that he was in the city was unknown to even his most intimate friends.

County officials stated that Eldred's father died several years ago in an asylum for the insane. A post mortem examination will be held.

Chief of Police Farr expressed belief that Eldred had not met with violence. He said it was his opinion that Eldred was ill when he arrived here.

Much of the furniture in the room where the body was found had been overturned and electric light fixtures shattered. Chief Farr said his theory was that Eldred became delirious and wandered about the house knocking over furnishings, but unable to summon aid.

PATIENT KILLED BY FALL

Joseph Paulik, 32, of 6650 South-west avenue, a machinist, died at the city hospital yesterday from injuries suffered at 7 p. m. Saturday when he fell 25 feet to the area way at the city hospital, from a bridge, used as a lounging place, between buildings.

He was being treated for paralysis. He was walking on the bridge when he fell. He suffered a fractured skull.

Handsomer than gold—

A 25-Year Pen

with a point like a smooth jewel bearing, and an Over-size Barrel that resembles Chinese lacquer.

Created by GEO. S. PARKER
inventor of the leakproof "Lucky Curve"

IT TOOK MR. PARKER 30 years to produce this super-pen, but it took America only six months to reward his infinite pains with a triumph unparalleled in the whole pen industry. In this short time the Parker Duofold has become the leading seller at prominent pen counters in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and dozens of cities. It seems that the higher a pen's perfection, the swifter and more sweeping its popularity.

Men and Women of America

We invite you to step up to the first good pen counter you come to and see its lacquer-like beauty. Note how soft this shade of Chinese-red; how smart the black-tipped ends and neat gold pocket-clip.

Grasp it! Get the business-like feel of its fit, weight and balance in your hand.

Compare its over-size barrel with the ordinary pen to-note how much more ink the Duofold holds.

Then write with this Native Iridium point set in extra thick gold—so smooth it needs no "breaking in," so hard and life-enduring we can guarantee it for 25 years for wear and mechanical perfection.

Write also with pens of other makes. The Duofold successfully challenges any other pen on earth regardless of price. We, too, manufacture higher priced pens with costly mountings and know all kinds. Try, yourself, to find another anywhere that writes so steadily and smoothly.

We are supplying dealers as rapidly as possible with this pen that wears like a smooth, hard jewel. But if you don't find it near by, have your dealer take your order subject to your approval after trial. Or write us giving your dealer's name.

SHARP DEBATE OVER LABOR-CHURCH BOND

Resolution Proposing Fraternal Relationship Adopted by Central Trades, 104 to 38.

A resolution proposing fraternal relationship between the Ministerial Alliance and the Central Trades and Labor Union provoked sharp debate in the labor body yesterday. The suggestion was sponsored by the Trades Union Educational League and was bitterly opposed by representatives of the brewery workers and kindred organizations. After a heated discussion, lasting more than an hour, the resolution was adopted, 104 to 38.

Henry Koehler of the brewery workers and Charles E. Baird of the beverage dispensers accused the promoters of the resolution of being in sympathy with prohibition, and the Anti-Saloon League. Baird suggested that if there was to be an exchange of fraternal delegates between the Central Trades and Labor Union and the Ministerial Alliance, the latter organization should form a union and join the American Federation of Labor.

"The trouble with you fellows is that you are too narrow minded," said James Conroy of the stationary firemen. "I'm not a prohibitionist. I still get mine even if it is hooch. We've got to have the ministers with us so that they can preach the doctrine of trades unionism from the pulpit. We must educate the public to our way of thinking and one of the best ways to do that is having the ministers tell our story to their congregations."

Cites Chicago Trouble.
"Look at the trouble they are having in Chicago. Murders and bombings and all that sort of thing. That is not going to help organized labor. Those labor leaders up there, and I know every one of them personally, are victims of environment. I remember when 20 years ago trades unions won their strikes through violence, but it cannot be done any more. We must be broad-minded to meet the present-day situation."

Stephen Butler, business agent of the musicians' union, in reviewing the lockout of union musicians formerly employed in the motion picture theaters because the union would not accept a 30 per cent wage reduction, said that the theaters had not reduced admission prices, although they are no longer under the expense of maintaining orchestras.

"They are fooling the public into believing they are under still heavier expense in providing vaudeville features," said Butler. "A motion picture theater in the neighborhood of Grand and Lucas avenues, which formerly paid $1500 a week for its music, is now presenting a suitcase vaudeville act and is still charging 50 cents for admission."

Admission Prices Up.
"In seven years the musicians' wages were increased 65 per cent, and in the same period the admission price was increased approximately 80 per cent. Neighborhood theaters which formerly charged 5 cents now charge 25 cents and West End theaters, formerly charging 10 cents, now charge 44 cents and 50 cents and in some cases as high as 65 cents for choice seats."

"The film distributing combine is responsible for the predicament of the musicians' union. The owners of moving picture houses know that if they employ union musicians they are charged prohibitive prices for good pictures."

E. W. Parlee of Chicago, international organizer of the Walters' Union, told the delegates that he had come to St. Louis to confer with labor leaders here to see what can be done to get the union waiters back in their old jobs at the leading hotels and clubs. He said that members of the union had been unable to get employment at any of the hotels or clubs in the Hotel Owners' Association since that organization discontinued contractual relations with the union in November, 1920.

Is Morvich a Superhorse, Or Just a Good Performer Pitted Against Weak Foes?

Most Formidable Rivals of Derby Caliber, Bunting, Olympus and Other Stars, Have Yet to Be Faced—Son of Runnymede Has, However, Done Everything Asked Without Straining.

By John E. Wray,

Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—"How good is Morvich?" Today this question seems to rank with "How great was Alexander?" "How old was Ann?" and "Who struck Billy Patterson?" as one of the great unanswerable interrogatories of the world. A strange fact connected with this thoroughbred is that the officer he wins the more doubters he appears to create.

Even after winning the Kentucky Derby handily from barrier to finish point, making excellent time with weight up, there are today many followers of the turf, ordinarily of sound judgment, who refuse to credit Morvich with a place in the Hall of Fame occupied by the superhorses. These say Morvich is a good, but not a great, horse; that Saturday he beat one of the most ordinary fields that ever went to the post in a Derby, and that if he is unbeaten in all his 12 starts it is because he is a good horse in a period of indifferent performers of his own age.

Yet Morvich has done everything asked of him. He won 11 of his races from beginning to end, showing the way to his field. After the first 10 of these they said he was a front runner and would stop. But his very next out he fell back, raced in good position and then walked away from his field at the close.

When he won on fast tracks, they declared he was not a mudder, but Morvich cracked this theory by stepping out and romping home in the mud.

It was charged that he was not big enough to be great, that his breeding indicated he could not go the route, and that to beat him he had only to be challenged. They pointed to the only fair time of most of his races. In short, if there was any weakness Morvich was not charged with, at this moment we can't think of it.

MORVICH IS GAME.

But Morvich upset every argument urged, won every race as scheduled, ran almost to his trainer's predictions, and did everything that was asked of him. He was ridden hard at one point of the stretch in the Derby, when challenged by Bet Mosie, but this only served to prove him. He showed he could stand the drive, breaking Bet Mosie's heart and drawing away at the close.

Must Beat Bunting and Others. Some of the best of the 2-year-old division have yet to meet and to be conquered by Morvich. Among these are the famous nags from the Whitney stable, all of them very highly regarded, such as Bunting, Olympus and Whiskaway. A coughing sickness threw these candidates out of the running and prevented their appearance in the Derby. Possibly they will come together in later stakes this year, and give Morvich a chance to bowl over the remaining doubtful Thomases.

Morvich's trainer thinks his colt has never shown to the full what he is capable of. He discounted the report of a bad knee, and said that the enlargement there, which caused a former owner to sell Morvich for $1500, would not hamper Morvich's running. Burlew told the Post-Dispatch representative at Louisville: "Morvich has shown every trait desirable in a thoroughbred, even to his disposition, which is tractable and playful. I have never set him down because I have never had to. He showed his reserve power twice during the Derby. Once on the far turn, when Startle and My Play challenged, he shot away from them like they were tied. In the stretch it looked like Bet Mosie was coming; but Johnson only had to shake the reins to stall off the Mosie challenge. I haven't seen the horse yet that I

BUD PURRELL OPPOSES KID BANDY IN S. B. A. C. RING TOMORROW NIGHT

Bud Purrell of Terre Haute, Ind., who fought and conquered in St. Louis rings Johnny Noye and Al Thomas, faces Kid Bandy in the main event at the South Broadway Athletic Club tomorrow evening. Purrell is a hard hitter and in both his exhibitions here he displayed sufficient boxing skill to make him a dangerous foe for Bandy. Al Thomas, the boy who was knocked out here by Purrell, will oppose Al Roberts of St. Louis in the semi-main event. Roberts is from Terre Haute and will be making his debut before a St. Louis gathering. Eli Stus, hard hitting youngster who slugged his way to two impressive victories here recently, will meet a worthy opponent in Johnny Lucas, of Billy Lauer's stable, in the opening bout. They will weigh 136 pounds and will go eight rounds. The main event is booked for 12 rounds and the semi-main for eight.

FOREST PARK TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO OPEN

The annual tournament for the Forest Park Tennis Club will open on May 27. There will be events for men in singles and doubles. A mixed doubles tournament will be held during the week commencing June 17. The prizes for the winners may be made at Leacock's or Spalding's. The club will hold a meeting for members next Friday, May 19, at the Hamilton Hotel.

ENTRIES CLOSE TONIGHT IN VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Artie Eilers, assistant athletic director at Washington University, announced today that entries had been received from six high schools in the territory surrounding St. Louis for the Mississippi Valley interscholastic track and field championships, which will be held at Francis Field Saturday.

Last year there were more than 200 schools represented and 300 individuals engaged in the games. Entries close at midnight tonight, by which time it is expected that all of the St. Louis public high schools will have entered.

PARADE IN ARGENTINA OVER FIRPO'S VICTORY

By the Associated Press. BUENOS AIRES, May 15.—Luis Angel Firpo's knockout of Jack Herman at Elberts Field, New York, Saturday, occasioned a great demonstration when the news of the South American victory reached here. Firpo is South America's candidate for the heavyweight championships of the world, and his third victory since his arrival in the United States has won him Argentine supporters with boundless enthusiasm.

SCHAEFER WILL DEFEND CUE TITLE THIS WEEK

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 15.—Champion Jake Schaefer, who won the world's 13.2 ball-line billiard championship last November, will defend his title for the second time, when he meets Walker Cochran of San Francisco this week. They will play 1500 points tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday nights in Orchestra Hall, where Schaefer a few weeks ago successfully defended his title against Willie Hoppe, former champion.

To Play for Charity.

William T. Tilden, national tennis champion, will leave the Pacific Coast this week in order to play a charity match at Larchmont Manor, N. Y., on May 21. On this date he will oppose Vincent Richards on the courts of the Oak Tennis Club.

Carpentier's Return Quiet.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, May 15.—Georges Carpentier, the world's light-heavyweight champion pugilist, returned to Paris last night from London, where last week he successfully defended his title against Ted "Kid" Lewis. The return of the pugilist was virtually unnoticed. Only a few personal friends were at the station to greet him.

The Detroit Tigers continued their assault on the league-leading Yankees, pounding Carl Mays for 12 hits and eight runs, in winning an 8-to-2 victory. Heilman led the attack with three hits, one a double. The largest Sunday Polo Grounds crowd of the year watched the game—35,000.

Johnston Defeats Tilden for Title

Big Bill Wins Only One Set and in Final He Is Beaten 6-0.

BERKELEY, Cal., May 15.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco, second ranking player in the United States, defeated William T. Tilden II of Philadelphia, world champion, in the finale of the Pacific Coast singles tennis championship yesterday.

The champion, who also is the first ranking player in the country, won but one set, the second. The final set showed Johnston and Tilden playing at top speed but the champion was unable to find an opening in Johnston's court.

AMERICAN GIRL AND HER SPANISH PARTNER WIN IN TENNIS TOURNAY ABROAD

By the Associated Press. BRUSSELS, May 15.—Princess Lobkowitzova of Czechoslovakia, by defeating Mrs. Satterthwaite, England, 6-0, shared with Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the champion, the honors of the second day's play in the international hard-court tennis championship. The Princess displayed wonderful skill and the experts are of the opinion that she may yet prove to be one of the most formidable challengers of Miss Lenglen's title.

Manuel Alonzo of Spain and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California defeated

Count de Gomar and Miss Allison, 7-5, 9-7, in a match which was not disputed as keenly as the score would indicate, both pairs winning serves with regularity, until Alonzo, who appeared to enjoy forcing his partner on the Spanish team, de Gomar, to chase all over the court, finally broke through the services of both opponents. Miss Ryan played a steady and useful game and she and Alonzo were never in danger.

Miss Lenglen's bid for fame was in carrying her young French partner, M. Cochet, to a hard-fought victory over Gordon Lowe and Miss Satterthwaite. The French team won the first set with ease; the English pair came back with grim determination in the second, the score being 3 all and then 4 all, when Miss Lenglen broke through her opponent's service and finally won, 4-4. The English team's attack centered on young Cochet, who was weak on service with his back hand. Many times during the last set the French girl crossed over to Cochet's side and recovered shots which seemed lost, after Cochet had been maneuvered out of the position. Miss Lenglen appeared to show more confidence in playing doubles than singles. Her game was equal to her best 1920 Wimbledon form.

RAN STILL TO SUPPORT HER THREE CHILDREN

Woman Allowed to Go Home After Her Arrest—Other Liquor Raids by Police.

Among a number of Sunday liquor raids the police yesterday arrested Mrs. Marie Solik, 35 years old, at her home, 1517 South Seventh street, where they claimed to have found four gallons of whisky, one gallon of kummel, a 10-gallon still and 30 gallons of mash.

She said at the Sealed Street Station that she had been making and selling whisky to support her three children, Frank, Joseph and Helen, 13, 10 and 8 years old, respectively, her husband having deserted her four years ago. She was allowed to return home to her children, pending application for a warrant.

At the Bellman's Hotel Association Club, an organization of hotel bell "hops," 812A Pine street, 21 quarts and 10 pints of home-made beer was confiscated and seven men were arrested. James Woods, 2749 Montgomery street, told the police he made the beer for the club members and that it was served to them free of charge.

Had Bottle "on Hip" William Dougherty, 52, of 19 North Eighth street, had a pint bottle of whisky on his hip at Seventh and Carr streets, and Matthew Juratovich, 2703 South Ninth street, had a jug of beer.

Two men, one carrying a basket and the other a sack, ran when police approached them at 2:10 a. m. yesterday and the man with the sack dropped it and escaped. The man with the basket, Edward Zimmerman, 22, 2003 DuSable street, a shoe worker, was arrested. His basket contained 20 bottles of home-made beer. The sack contained 14 quarts of beer. Zimmerman said he was merely carrying the basket for the man with the sack, a stranger to him.

A 20-gallon still, oil stove, 10 empty barrels, 20 sacks of sugar and five sacks of rye were found in a truck in a coal yard at 2553 Lemp avenue, and a small quantity of whisky, wine and gin in the coal yard office. Nick Linn, 71, owner of the coal yard, and A. Zerkana, 2738 Kosciuszko street, owner of the truck, were arrested.

Two Saloons Raided Raids were made at the saloon of Louis Jassa, 4529 Fountain avenue; the saloon of Mrs. Mary Mateich, 1800 South Third street, and at the home of Vincenzo Licavola, 1916 North Sixth street. Massa and his bartender, Tony Mateich, and Licavola were arrested. A small quantity of whisky was found at Massa's place, and some beer at Mateich's.

A 20-gallon still, some mash and a jug of whisky were found at Licavola's home.

A negro lawn fete at 2117 Washington avenue, also was raided, and Henry Givins, negro, who was conducting the affair, was found with two pints of whisky in his pockets. He was arrested.

EAST ST. LOUIS MAN SLAIN BY STEPFATHER AFTER QUARREL

Man Who Went to Home With Victim of Shooting Sought for Inquest Appearance.

An inquest into the killing of Fred Peterman, 35 years old, of 709 Pig-gott avenue, East St. Louis, by his stepfather, Peter Gain, 57, of 4760 Bond avenue, Centerville Station, yesterday afternoon, is delayed while search is made for a man who accompanied Peterman to Gain's home and who was the witness.

Relations between Peterman and his stepfather have not been harmonious and when he heard that Gain had sent Mrs. Gain, Peterman's mother, to St. Mary's Hospital for treatment he went to Gain's home at 4 p. m. yesterday, accompanied by a man who was a stranger to Gain, and berated him for it.

Gain says Peterman became threatening and Gain withdrew to a bedroom, but Peterman followed him and struck him. Gain obtained a revolver from a bureau drawer and he says that it was not until Peterman tried to strike him again that he fired three shots. Two bullets struck Peterman in the abdomen and one in the head. He died on the way to the hospital.

Peterman was unmarried and lived with a brother, August.

WRITE for The BOOK of the PLAY describing Yellowstone NATIONAL PARK

And it is a play—the greatest on earth with Nature's own actors. 100 dancing geysers, countless springs boiling in gorgeous colored basins, seething "paint-pots" of liquid pigments, spluttering mud volcanoes.

The play goes on ceaselessly with a stage setting of flower-carpeted valleys, majestic mountains, roaring waterfalls and marvelous canyons of indescribably beautiful colorings. While the bears, buffalo, deer and elk roaming at large, give the completing touch to the grand ensemble.

The beautiful book describing Yellowstone, and containing maps and information regarding camps and hotels, is free. Write for your copy.

MUNICIPAL OPERA NOT TO HAVE RAIN INSURANCE THIS SEASON

Decision Based on Experience of Last Year, When Premiums Paid Were a Loss.

The Municipal Opera will not carry rain insurance this season, according to an announcement made by Max Koenigsberg, who is in charge of insurance for the Municipal Opera Association.

Insurance agencies insist on official records in the matter of rainfall, and as the official record is made by the Weather Bureau on the roof of the Railway Exchange Building, it would be necessary to move the opera downtown to get the conditions of rainfall that govern the insurance. Last season's showers at Park were of such a local character that, with the downtown gauge as the test, the association did not succeed in collecting anything, though it paid $60 an evening for this protection.

$66,800,000 BOND ISSUE PROPOSED BY PLAN COMMITTEE

$54,800,000 for Civic Purposes and $12,000,000 for New Waterworks in Recommendations.

$5,000,000 FOR A SOLDIER MEMORIAL

$17,200,000 for Street Work—Propositions to Be Submitted to Council on Civic Needs.

Recommendations for a municipal bond issue of $66,800,000, for civic purposes under seven heads, and for a $12,000,000 issue for the construction of a new waterworks plant, were made public today by the Plan and Scope Committee of the General Council on Civic Needs, in advance of the general body's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce assembly hall.

The civic items include the sum of $5,000,000 for soldier memorial purposes. The form which the memorial should take is not set forth. The building of a convention hall has been put forward, by its advocates, as a suitable memorial project, but the Plan and Scope Committee does not commit itself to this or any other particular form of memorial. The report says, as to this item:

"We recommend the setting aside of $5,000,000 for memorial purposes. We feel justified in paying this tribute to those who have participated in the war. The form of this expenditure should be determined by conference among those interested, but we are proposing this amount to provide means for a memorial of ample scope, and for strictly memorial purposes, untouched and uninfluenced by any commercial considerations."

Committee's Report in Part.

The committee's report, with the detailed recommendations for the various bond issue items, follows in part:

"Louis finds itself today with a population of approximately 800,000, with facilities inadequate in many respects, and with the absolute certainty that it cannot take care of an appreciable increase in population. The time has come for the establishment of a positive, progressive, civic patriotism."

A partial survey of the needs which should be met from municipal revenue indicates that the combined total will reach over $150,000,000. The amount that can be expended under the law is $61,987,220.

"Our committee believes that piece-meal methods of the past should be abandoned, and that the people should be given all of the facts in connection with each need, and that they be given opportunity to adopt or reject each item in its entirety. We believe it is sound business policy to do one thing quickly and well, and that this is infinitely better than to have portions of the same items coming up year after year."

"Consideration has been given to the relative value of the various items, and they have been placed as follows:

The obligation to the sick and infirm.

General sanitation.

Recreational facilities for those in thickly populated sections.

Major streets and thoroughfares, complete.

General needs.

"Item 1, Care of Sick and Infirm: This, under a progressive program covering the next 10 years, will require an expenditure for grounds and buildings of $10,537,000. This includes the complete development of the Koch Hospital, and adequate extension of the city sanitarium, a special hospital for negroes, an additional isolation hospital, and in development of the farm for the feeble minded. We recommend a present expenditure of $6,000,000 for this item, which should be spent as follows:

Koch Hospital	$1,242,800
City Sanitarium	1,300,000
Negro Hospital	750,000
Psychopathic ward	400,000
City Hospital	1,000,000

Items for Bond Issue Proposed by Plan Committee of Civic Needs Council

THE Plan and Scope Committee of the General Council of Civic Needs reports, subject to revision by the General Committee, the following items of a proposed bond issue, to be voted upon separately:

For hospital and health purposes	$ 6,000,000
For general sanitation	20,000,000
For playgrounds and recreation	4,000,000
Major streets and thoroughfares, complete	15,000,000
Paving existing streets	2,800,000
Grade crossings	2,000,000
Memorial purposes	5,000,000
Total	$54,800,000

(Limit on new bonded indebtedness payable from municipal revenue, $61,987,220.)

The committee also recommends a $12,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a new waterworks plant, to be paid from water revenue, and not from municipal revenue. The city may, under the constitution, issue bonds for public utility purposes, payable from the earnings of the utilities, to the amount of $158,000,000.

The committee stated that it had still under consideration these subjects:

Convention Hall.

Opera House and Symphony Hall.

Development of the river front.

Completion of the Municipal Bridge.

An Armory for the First Regiment.

Fire engines and houses.

Municipal building for mechanical and power purposes.

Lighting for other than major thoroughfares.

A new Courthouse.

Grouping of public buildings.

New city markets.

Jail cells.

City Workhouse.

MESSENGER, SIGHT POOR, TELLS HOW HE SHOT ROBBERS

Harry Stewart Says He Was Asleep When Holdup Men Attacked Train in Arizona.

TOOK UP POST BY WINDOW OF CAR

Picked Off Two Men With Sawed-Off Shotgun, Killing One and Wounding Another.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Harry Stewart, railway express messenger, gray haired and with falling eyesight, came home last night with a notch on his gun.

Near Tucson, Ariz., early yesterday, he killed one robber, wounded another and routed six more when the band attempted to rob the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train No. 3, the Golden State Limited, bound from Chicago to Los Angeles. The train, with several hundred passengers, was approaching Jaynes, six miles west of Tucson, early yesterday, when it struck several robbers' signals. Further ahead, between the tracks, the engine crew saw a red fuse flaring.

D. M. Madigan, conductor, looked out as the wheels ground to a stop. "As I opened the vestibule," said Madigan later, "somebody fired four shots at me. I was temporarily blinded by flying glass in the car. I saw the robbers' faces as they came in. I saw a red fuse flaring."

Stewart had been sleeping.

Stewart took up post by window.

"I was awakened by the shooting," he said. "I was in my sock-feet. Did I open the door? I hope I didn't."

"The car was dark inside. I felt around and found my sawed-off shotgun. It had two shells in it. I went to the little window in the car. It was so high I could hardly see through it. While I waited there, probably 60 shots were fired at the train."

"One of the robbers shouted: 'Come on boys, come on. If you don't open the doors and climb out, we'll dynamite the train.'"

"A few more shots came from the bandits ambushed in the brush, then one of them called: 'Well, let's get busy.'"

"I saw one of the armed men start out of the brush. The window was too high for me to get a good line on him, and I've got poor eyesight besides—but I let him have the first barrel. He flopped to the ground and crawled back to the brush."

"Further back, I could hear the others shooting at the coaches trying to terrorize the passengers. I suppose."

Gets Second Robber.

"Then I heard footsteps coming from the direction of the engine. I couldn't see the man, but he walked beneath my window. Then he came back abreast of my window again. I got a peep at him as he turned and walked toward the brush. I figured he was going to set off a charge of dynamite and I let him have the other barrel."

"I knew I hit him. He fell like a dog, and, groaning, he crawled about 15 feet. When he reached the bushes he didn't groan any more."

"One of the other robbers called out: 'Don't shoot any more, boys, and they didn't.'"

"Pretty soon I heard an automobile engine start. Then I saw five or six men jump into a machine. The car sped away without lights."

BANK RUNNER'S GUARD, FATALLY WOUNDED BY ROBBER

HENRY AHRING.

WEST END RESIDENTS PLEAD HARD TIMES

Board of Public Service Overrules Them and Votes to Improve Pershing Avenue.

Residents of Pershing avenue, between Euclid avenue and King's highway, pleaded hard times before the Board of Public Service today in opposing the proposed bitulthid paving of that section of the avenue, at a cost of $14,700.

There was a delegation of them at the meeting, headed by George D. Markham, insurance man, who acted as spokesman, who said they were members of the Pershing Improvement Association, and were opposed to the improvement because business had been bad and dividends on stocks were scarce and slow and to pay special assessments would be a hardship.

Other members of the delegation were Eugene Pettus, H. M. Bixby, Daniel C. McCluney, A. W. Niedringhaus and Howard C. Benedict, speaking for himself and Mrs. Henry Turner.

The members of the board listened and then voted to approve the improvement and a resolution to the Board of Aldermen authorizing it.

CONTRACT FOR GARBAGE INCINERATOR LET FOR $69,812

Chicago Concern Obtains the Job When Two Other Lower Bidders Are Rejected as Untried.

A contract for the erection of an 80-ton unit garbage incinerator for $69,812 was let by the Board of Public Service today to the Chicago Incinerator Co. Bids by two other companies were $67,755 and $66,355. Bids were opened on this contract a month ago, when the bid of the Chicago company was $200 higher, and Director of Streets and Sewers Fiske recommended that the contract be let to another company which bid $69,785. Protest was made, however, by members of the Board of Aldermen, who had inspected plants of that company and also an operating plant of the Chicago firm at Newport, Ky., similar to the one planned in St. Louis. The other bidder was considered untried on this type of plant and letting the contract to it too much in the nature of an experiment.

20 CLAIM RING FOUND IN COURT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Wealth appearing suddenly yesterday in Poorman's Court in Williamsburg, caused a riot. A young lawyer, just admitted to the bar, was trying some of his oratory in behalf of a widow with five children, who couldn't pay her rent, her grocery bill or any of her debts. Then the lawyer stooped and picked up a two-carat, blue-white diamond set in platinum. He had stepped upon it. Three women in the rear of the room at once claimed it. Seven other women then claimed it and all started toward the Judge.

The courtroom was in an uproar. Reinforcements arrived and the courtroom was cleared. The ring, valued at $1500, was claimed by 20 women at nightfall.

ESCORT FIRED ON WITHOUT WARNING AND $2000 TAKEN

Employees of Bremen Bank, One in Uniform, Held Up on Broadway Line Near Mound Street on Way From Downtown Bank With Supply of $1 Bills.

ROBBERY CARRIED OUT QUICKLY

Band, Believed to Have Numbered Four, Escapes in Trailing Auto—Henry Ahring, Man Wounded, Dies in Hospital.

Henry Ahring, watchman for the Bremen Bank, was shot in the forehead by one of two or more robbers, who then took $2000 from a messenger of the bank, on a Broadway car near Mound street, at 9:30 this morning. He died in the city hospital at 12:50 p. m.

Ahring, who was armed and in uniform, was shot without warning as he sat beside the messenger, William H. Goedeke, Ahring being on the aisle seat and the messenger by the window. The robbers saw that unless they disposed of the guard before an alarm had been given they would meet with resistance in robbing the messenger and one of them deliberately shot Ahring, purposely inflicting a wound of a mortal character.

The robbers escaped in an automobile driven by another man, which had trailed the street car, and which disappeared west in Mound street (1718 north), after the robbers had fired several shots in the direction of a policeman who chanced to be at the corner. In leaving the street car, one of the robbers struck the motorman on the head with his revolver, because he had not opened the car door quickly enough.

Ahring and the messenger had made a visit to the United States Bank of St. Louis, Fourth street and Washington avenue, and had obtained $2000 in $1 bills to take to the Bremen Bank at 3600 North Broadway. The messenger made a package of the bills and carried the package under his arm. They got on the north-bound Broadway car, which was well filled at Washington avenue, and after a time, an automobile was noticed running before the car.

Messenger's Story.

The messenger, Goedeke, in telling of the robbery later, said: "I did not know that anything was wrong until I heard a shot, which seemed right in my face. I had been turned out of the window, and I turned and saw a man standing in front of me, with a smoking revolver in his hand."

"He gave me a fierce look and said, 'Give me that money, you scoundrel.'"

"I was dumfounded, almost paralyzed. He seized the money from under my arm, and dashed out at the front of the car. Another man, also with a revolver in his hand, had come from the front of the car. Then there was a man in back of me who also had a revolver. I did not see more than three men who seemed to have part in the robbery."

"Mr. Ahring fell in my lap, with blood spurting from his head."

Boarded Car Near Scene.

The constable of the Broadway car, L. C. Bassen, said the two men boarded the car about Mullany street, which is but two blocks from the scene of the robbery. The men paid their fares and went into the car, and as Mound street was reached the conductor heard a shot and saw the bank watchman sink into the messenger's lap.

He said one robber came toward him, while the other, the one who had taken the money from the messenger, started for the front door. At the rear robber's order, the conductor pulled the bell cord and both the front and rear doors were opened, letting the men out. He said he saw only two robbers, and
